

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

Tomorrow marks the dedication of the new Community Church, an event all residents of the La Crescenta valley are deeply interested in. Dr. Robert Freeman of Pasadena will preach the dedicatory sermon and assist Rev. H. A. Kelso in conducting the services. Monday evening, Rev. Kelso and members of the church will hold a public reception at the church and an opportunity will be given to inspect the building. The music on this occasion will be under the supervision of Miss Marguerite Hauber. There will be no services in the morning tomorrow, but a Sunday school rally will be held at 10 o'clock.

The Boy Scouts are out in full force, selling tickets for their moving picture matinee next Thursday afternoon at the school auditorium. "Dwellers of the Desert," is the title of the picture. Half of the proceeds of the entertainment will go to the local Boy Scouts' fund.

Mrs. C. Lorenz and daughter Marie of Oklahoma City, are guests of Mrs. Anna K. Burke of South Los Angeles avenue. They have just returned from an extended stay abroad.

Mrs. Matilda Easton of Los Angeles is the guest of her mother, Mrs. H. E. Bruce of 139 East Mayfield avenue.

A. T. Cobb of Los Angeles has leased the building formerly occupied by the Craft Grocery Company on Honolulu avenue near Los Angeles avenue and installed a complete line of groceries. Mr. Cobb will also handle fresh vegetables and will solicit and deliver.

RARE PIECES OF LACE WORK AT OLDE BOOK SHOPPE

Some very rare pieces of lace work are on display and for sale at Ye Olde Book Shoppe at the Tuesday club's Society Circus, which is in charge of Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, curator of the travel section. These laces are to be sold for the Baroness Otilly de Ropp and have an interesting history. Her only reason for selling them is that she ardently desires to have her son and his family come to this country. Baroness de Ropp and her husband came to the United States in 1915 after their estates in Russia had been devastated by the Germans.

Among the laces offered are a handkerchief of fine embroidery on real muslin from India, ordered for the wedding of the baroness' great-grandmother in 1805; small collar and cuffs of old Pointe-de-Venise, were presented to her grandmother in 1850 by the wife of Archduke Johann of Tyrol; Rosann (Venetian) lace collar; knitted lace "Corsage," wedding present from sister of her great grandmother; mantilla of black Chantilly lace. This last piece has been in the baroness' family for 70 years and was inherited by her grandmother from her aunt.

BATTERY STOLEN FROM MR. MCINTYRE'S AUTO

H. F. McIntyre of 3553 North Verdugo road, Los Angeles, last night had a battery stolen from his automobile while it was parked near the Gateway theatre.

Events of Interest to Glendale and Its People

More than one hundred fathers and sons of Central Christian Bible school last night enjoyed a fine banquet prepared by the good ladies of the church and served on tables decorated with beautiful flowers. The men's class gave the banquet and it was the first of an annual series which the men have planned.

Rev. Cole acted as toastmaster and song leader. During the evening several of the favorites of the Hi-Y boys were sung from books loaned by the latter for the occasion. A quartet composed of Messrs. C. Clifford Riggs, Myron Carman, J. B. Clarke and W. Comfort sang most beautifully several selections, accompanied by Mrs. Riggs at the piano. Mrs. Bertha Jackson Mackay then delighted all with two of her inimitable readings, after which the speaker of the evening, Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of Broadway Christian church, gave a fine talk on the relations which should exist between father and son, the joy of being a son and the responsibility of being a son. It was full of wise admonition and also was decidedly humorous at times. The speaker's narrative of experiences with juvenile offenders recommended to his fatherly care by judges of the courts was decidedly interesting.

Rev. Henry O. Kringel of the Zion Lutheran church will deliver an address Sunday evening at the annual convention of the Lutheran Educational society of Southern California. The theme of the address will be "Education." The sessions of the convention will be conducted Sunday afternoon and evening at the Epiphany church, corner of West Fifteenth street and Fifth avenue in Los Angeles. The public is cordially invited to be present.

MONTROSE NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Carson of West Honolulu avenue, have recently entertained many friends from Readfield, Maine. Fourteen former acquaintances have come to this vicinity to spend the winter. Among those from the eastern state are Mr. and Mrs. Lester Strout, parents of E. A. Strout, one of the largest real estate men in the country. Mr. Strout and family plan to locate permanently here.

Those who read the story, "A Day Dream Comes True" on the Montrose page of last evening's edition no doubt noticed the paragraph which read "three years ago business lots sold for a hundred;" this was a typographical error. The original copy stated that "three years ago business lots sold for a few hundred." Those who know land values are aware that lots anywhere in the Southland have not sold for one hundred dollars for a good many years.

The Crescenta Mutual Water company of Montrose has engaged Miss Ada Curry of Los Angeles to take charge of its affairs in the new offices which the company has leased in the bank building. Miss Curry has been connected with the Los Angeles chamber of commerce for some years. She will take over the work here as soon as the water company moves into its office.

Mrs. Mary E. Woodward of Hollywood has leased the new bungalow just completed by Mr. Huber on Piedmont street. Mr. Huber plans to build several more cottages on his property there in the near future.

The illustrated lecture given Thursday evening by Dr. Montague Cleaves was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number of Montrose people who attended.

Mr. G. W. Crosby has disposed of his home here and will shortly remove with his family to Los Angeles where Mr. Crosby owns considerable property. The Crosby's plan to make an extended tour of the eastern states during the winter, returning in the early spring to California. Mr. Crosby's property here was purchased by Edward J. Walch of Detroit, Mich.

LESTER'S RADIO SHOP WINS BIG PRIZE

With the announcement of the winners in the five thousand dollar prize contest conducted by E. T. Cunningham, Inc., San Francisco, new honors have been conferred upon a Southern radio dealer. The first prize of $1000 was won by Lester's radio shop, A. C. Lester, Prop., 140 South Spring street. The prize was awarded for the best window display of Cunningham tubes and completed for by over 3,000 dealers in the United States. The prize window is now being displayed.

THIS LOOKS LIKE BUSINESS DOES IT NOT?

The Glendale and Montrose Railway, operating between Glendale and La Crescenta Station, Los Angeles County, has applied to the Railroad Commission for approval of the proposed transfer to the City of Glendale of that portion of the right of way lying within that city, in consideration of a franchise to operate therein, says a report from the commission headquarters.

DAMAGED

TALK IS GIVEN BY MR. HORACE M. REBOK

Truly enlightening was the talk given at the regular meeting of the Acacia avenue Parent-Teacher association on Friday by Horace M. Rebok, superintendent of schools of Santa Monica, regarding the attacks being made upon the educational problems today and also upon the way to universal peace through universal education of the masses.

He said, "The only hope anybody can point out for peace is the universal education of the rising generation, so that the hymns of hate will be sung no more and in their place will come universal understanding. It must be so universal that there will be no mass of ignorant populace in the background to be influenced by malicious leaders."

"These forces that do not look with favor upon the educational program that prohibits exploiting the child in the factory and elsewhere, that would withhold funds for Americanization, that are at work to destroy every child labor law and to reduce age of compulsory school attendance are at work in California as elsewhere. We must not be mistaken as to the significance of all the attacks that are being made on the educational problem."

Among other attacks being made by the reactionary forces against modern education is that it is not efficient. Mr. Rebok stated that according to tests made in the schools of today, using the same examination questions as were used years back in the schools, it was proved that the pupils of today have a much higher percentage. The standard is higher.

Mrs. L. D. Torrey had charge of a business meeting that preceded the speech. Room mothers reported on progress being made for the bazaar to be held at the school on November 24. A motion picture was shown that the association hold social gatherings at the homes of various members about once every two weeks, the first to be at the home of Mrs. E. B. Sutton, date to be announced later.

The treasurer reported a balance of $69 and membership chairman gave report of 190 members now in the association. Motion carried that the P. T. A. purchase "The Bookhouse," a set of the best stories for children by the best authors, for use in the school. A donation of $5 was voted from the treasury to be used by the special teacher who visits the homes of children unable to attend school on account of sickness and other reasons, to be used to purchase books.

Miss Helen Campbell entertained the 50 members present with two very clever readings, "The Old Fiddler" and "It Smells Good." Mrs. Edwards, on behalf of the Mothers' club, presented Mrs. S. LaChasse, who instituted the kindergarten department of the association, with one of the club pins. The matter of the Glendale Welfare Chest drive was brought up and members urged to assist.

Mrs. Clark reported that out of 110 underweight children of the school, 50 are taking milk. Of the 50, 34 are now up to normal weight. The next meeting of the association will be held on December 14, on account of the regular meeting time coming during the Christmas vacation period. Richardson D. White was present and gave a short talk, also introducing the speaker of the afternoon.

CANADIAN CLUB GIVES

Regular business meeting of the Glendale Canadian club was held Thursday night at the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard. This was followed by a program and some old-fashioned square dances. ART ASSOCIATION HAS GOOD MEETING

There was a good attendance on the meeting of the Glendale Art association held Friday night at the city library, with Mrs. Roy Bal-lagh presiding, and six new members were enrolled.

John Cotton gave the second of his series of three talks on American art and artists, the theme of this one being "The Hudson River School" of landscape painters Thomas Moran, a very old man, now living in Santa Barbara, was mentioned as one of the exponents of the Hudson River school and of the last living link between the painstaking methods of that day and the modern impressionistic schools which will be dealt with in the next lecture. The lecture was illustrated with black and white reproductions of some of the more famous paintings of the school referred to.

Following the lecture was a social hour during which cake and punch were served. A drive is now on for new members as it is realized if the club is to fulfill its mission to the community all the art lovers should be enrolled to support it.

At the next meeting, which will be held the first Sunday in December at the city library at 4 p. m., Mr. Kanst, the well known art dealer and critic will be the speaker.

JOSEPH SCOTT GIVES INSPIRING TALK TO K. OF C.

At the regular meeting of the Glendale council of Knights of Columbus, held Thursday night at the K. C. hall on East Lomita avenue, Hon. Joseph Scott of Los Angeles gave a very inspiring talk on "The Ideals of Columbianism." The club house was packed with members from Glendale, Los Angeles and neighboring councils. The talk was enthusiastically received.

During the evening the Sutton trio, who recently came to Glendale, put on a musical program and entertainment. There were piano and violin numbers and child imitations. The program was especially good. The matter of the community chest drive was taken up and arrangements made for the Knights to assist in the campaign.

On Saturday night, November 17, the Knights will entertain the families of the Holy Family Catholic church and their friends at a reception and dancing party to be held at the club house beginning at 8 o'clock. There will be cards from 8 until 10 m., dancing from 10 until midnight. Prizes have been donated for the card party and arrangements made for an elaborate lunch to be served after cards. The affair is being given by the Knights and will be entirely free for members of the parish.

MRS. FRED KILLE HOSTESS TO J. E. O. CHAPTER B. A.

The final chapter in the serial story which chapter members have been writing was then read. It was written by Mrs. A. M. Williams, a former member who is now residing in El Centro. The next meeting will be held two weeks hence at the home of Mrs. C. C. Cooper.

ARTISTS' SECTION HAS SPLENDID MUSIC PROGRAM

Glendale Music club members who attended the meeting of the artists' section, held Friday night at the home of Mrs. C. C. Cooper, 302 North Central avenue, were delighted at the program given by the artist members of the club. The guests of honor for the evening were Mrs. Nellie Horne of Tujunga, famous portrait painter of musical celebrities, and Mrs. Lafayette Goodbar, soprano, who is recently from Boston.

Miss Gertrude Cleophas, curator, had charge of the meeting on Friday night. Mrs. Leroy Bosserman read a very interesting paper on "English Music," the topic for the evening. Those present were again delighted to hear Gilman Williams, baritone singer, who studied with David Bispham. It is interesting to know that he has opened a studio here. Mr. Williams sang "Song of Thanksgiving" (Francis Allister), "Come Back" (Roger Reuter), "Down Among the Dead Men," a Jacobita song, and also a group of American songs, including "War" (James Rogers) and "Jean" (Spross), "Internationale" (MacFadyen). As an encore he sang the prologue from "Pagliacci." He was accompanied by Miss Grace Orcutt.

Miss Hazel Linkogel played in her usual fine style "Vespérale" (Scott), "Deep River" (Coleridge-Taylor) and "Mélodie en Danse" from the "Faholhasse Suite" (Cyril Scott), with Henry Grace at the piano. Mrs. Palmer, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Leroy Bosserman, gave a very charming group of vocal numbers, including an Elgar number "Sabbath Morning at Sea" from "Sea Pictures Group" and "Valley" (Russell).

LEGION POST GETS NEW MEMBERS AT MEETING FRIDAY

Commander Chalmers Day had charge of the regular meeting of Glendale post, No. 127, American Legion, held Friday night. Kiefer and Dwight W. Stephenson, was appointed. Nominations for officers for the ensuing year will be in order, beginning with the first meeting in December.

On account of it having been given by the Legion on Armistice Day, the Tuesday afternoon club sent a letter to the post reimbursing them for the rent of the Tuesday club hall room used by the Legion for its Armistice day dancing party. A letter of thanks will be sent to the club from the Legion for this courtesy.

Eugene J. Wix gave a very interesting talk on the observance of National Education Week, which movement was instituted by the American Legion. Speakers for the next meeting of the Legion on Friday, November 23, will include Adjutants O'Leary of Pasadena, Collins of Long Beach and several from Los Angeles, who will tell of the advantages of a paid adjutant to a Legion post.

Johnson. The election will be held at the next meeting in December, and installation in January.

The dance proved a delightful social affair with about 100 on the floor. Very fine music was furnished by the California Oriole orchestra and incense burners were the awards for the prize waltz, one of the winning couples being Miss Elsie Sinclair and Charles Grist. Mr. Long presided over the table at which punch was dispensed during the evening, and the returns to the temple were in the neighborhood of $25.

MAKING A MYSTERY

Recently a young woman, after penning some rather incoherent notes, took a fatal dose of poison. An attempt was made to create a mystery out of the episode. The fact was that there was no mystery about it. The young woman had defied the conventions respected of decency, and had been living with a man not her husband. It seems that he had promised to marry her when his divorce had been perfected. The outcome was about that which might have been expected. If there is any mystery it is as to why the young woman should have elected a course so certain to lead to disaster, and so likely to lead to death.

About the same time another young woman was found guilty of homicide. She had killed the man with whom she had been associating. There was no doubt that at the time of committing the crime she was so drunk as to have been unaware of what she was doing. Otherwise the verdict would have been murder. The trial of this case brought out startling evidence of depravity. The two principals were figures in a group, all of them leading a similarly sordid and useless existence. They seemed to flourish at a social depth where no shame is known. The climax was perfectly logical.

At Fresno there is a woman in jail who is said to have confessed to deliberate murder, designed for gaining possession of property by removal of intervening heirs. The woman's mother killed herself after the arrest of the daughter. Since then the fact transpired that the older woman had been a participant in the conspiracy of assassination.

Crime is not a mystery so often as stated. In most instances it is explained clearly by the circumstances surrounding it.

THE SPECTACLE OF GROWTH

Some souls, abundantly endowed with caution seem to be alarmed at the spectacle of rapid development in southern California. Aware that for a long time this region has been the white spot of the financial map, they see no specific reason for a change. But the pessimism boils up within them, and they predict disaster simply because conditions, perfectly logical conditions at that, have caused a development and a prosperity "too good to last." They want to know how, when the part of community clustering about Los Angeles shall have become one vast city, the dwellers therein are to support themselves. They are looking a long way ahead in order to borrow unnecessary trouble.

Southern California does not measure its material progress by a counting of noses. People come freely because of the belief, soon substantiated, that there is something worth coming for. It is not their plan to sit in the shade of an orange tree nibbling the fruit and snapping the seeds at the birds. They come as practical people. They bring capital which soon is helping to promote production whether in relation to the soil or the output of the finished staple. They do not constitute a mere collection of folk desirous of basking in the sun. Hence the factories multiply. More and more the articles of common use are being made here. Vaster and vaster becomes the system of transportation. A great harbor springs into being to accommodate ocean traffic. More acres are being brought under cultivation, adding to the wealth of the world.

The new importance of California is the result of a spreading knowledge of its latent possibilities. The habit of granting any financial importance to it is yet so new that to the observer it may be startling. The man whose activities have been confined to eastern monetary centers does not understand it. The realization that on this coast the east has a rival; that a large volume of the business once conceded to belong to the east alone, has been transferred across a continent, dawns upon him but slowly, and finds him reluctant to accept the truth. Not so long ago any considerable issue of bonds, school or municipal, placed on the market here went begging for Wall street bids. Now such bonds are taken by California capital. There has been a vital change, but not spasmodic, not temporary. The adjustment as it takes form is in accord with economic laws.

AWAKE TO NEEDS OF PARKS

Residents of Los Angeles seem to have awakened to the need of having plenty of parks. They are considering now a proposition to have an area known as Westmoreland place condemned for park purposes. This area, equaling nine city blocks in extent, contains but nine residences. It has, however, many fine trees, some evidences of the landscape artist's skill, and is accessible. One corner of the area rests at Vermont avenue and Pico street, both important thoroughfares. Business already has taken possession of the other three corners at that junction. Westmoreland building restrictions are such that there is no probability that the land could be put to any other use than the one now proposed. Nobody is likely to erect a dwelling costing the stipulated thousands of dollars where the surrounding grounds are all occupied by stores. So if the property be not condemned, and made into a park, the part of it still unoccupied must long remain vacant, neglected and unsightly.

The details of a single feature of the plan to equip Los Angeles with plenty of breathing spots and the incidental fire protection afforded by them, may not be of interest to the general outsider. The basic idea is of decided interest. Every growing municipality must expect the time when it will be seeking parks, and when, if early opportunities have been neglected, the search either will be fruitless or success be had at tremendous cost.

THE NOBEL PRIZE

Dr. Robert M. Millikan as announced in the news columns, has been awarded the Nobel prize for physics. This is a distinguished honor, and as such must be welcome to the scientist. The prize also has a financial value so great as to be a substantial incentive. Not that the investigator thinks of monetary gain, but that in many instances, the increase of his income might increase his opportunities greatly.

Dr. Millikan is the director of the Norman Bridge Laboratory of Physics at the California Institute of Technology. This school, ordinarily mentioned as California Tech, has reached an educational level in which the whole state takes pride. It is regarded as the equal of similar schools much older and more richly endowed. Not that California Tech has by any means been overlooked. Only recently Arthur Fleming gave it five million dollars, and Dr. Norman Bridge, and others have been liberal with their gifts.

The researches by Dr. Millikan have resulted in adding much to the knowledge, and thus to the working capacity of the scientific world. The benefit of his discoveries is freely admitted by all scholars. They will be glad of the recognition extended by a committee of savants. They will say that the compliment had been earned richly.

In the existence and growth of California Tech is one of the evidences that California is not devoted alone to material advancement, but that it believes in and contributes to culture and to intellectual development.

In describing one of the new police commissioners, a Los Angeles paper says that Dr. S. T. Montgomery "is supervisor of the Anti-Temperance League." The good doctor, valiant foe of rum, bootleg or otherwise, doubtless read this with a sense of surprise.

When a white man's automobile got tangled with a machine driven by a colored man recently, something very like a race riot followed. Selection of a place for the collision was unfortunate, it being in the heart of the Los Angeles colored belt.

HAVING "NO OCCUPATION"

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

There are times when "Uncle Sam" is a humorous person.

But when he sends out a group of census takers who gaily list the 20,000,000 of housewives who run the nation's homes as "having no occupation" he is distinctly pathetic.

And that is not all; he is contributing to the delinquency of innumerable husbands and sons whom he encourages to scorn housework as a thing requiring no brains and having no value.

Only women who keep house know how much that mental slant has to do with the divorce problem.

If the labor of those women were paid for at the rate of, say $50 a month, it would mount to the appalling sum of 12 billions of dollars a year and that would not be allowing a penny for "extras" and nothing for the skill and tenderness that can come from love alone.

What is one to say of a national psychology that records in its census reports that a class of citizens who annually do 12 billions worth of work and receive for it not a penny of compensation is a class "having no occupation."

In my life I have done a good many things, among them auditing for a number of years in an important branch of the treasury department of the United States, and I here record my solemn conviction that it takes more brains, more tact, a greater sense of the details of finance, longer hours and more robust health to take care of the average home than it does to perform the duties of any public position that I have ever held.

And if there are children in a home the mother must in addition to knowing a good bit about most everything else on earth be acquainted with the requirements of nursing, both babies and the sick; she must be a good seamstress, an expert on psychology, a food chemist and a diplomat.

Fancy saying that a person who holds down a job like that "has no occupation," and yet I heard a woman who knew what she was talking about say only yesterday that she knew a woman who had six children, who had kept house, cooked, washed and ironed for all the family and had not had one cent in her work worth hands for seven years.

And her husband is worth half a million dollars. The woman's family had to send her postage stamps if they were to hear from her.

To be sure that is an extreme case, but it is just one result of the national psychology engendered by regarding housework as beneath both compensation and contempt.

Incidentally it is that psychology that the National Federation of Woman's Clubs is out to change, and it can not be changed too quickly for the peace and dignity of this nation.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

One of my old friends crashed not long ago. He had been the head of a great business. He had built that business up himself. He knew all there was to be known about it. He had his finger on the pulse of every department. He was just as apt to show a shipping clerk how to do his work as he was to take the chief buyer into the back office and run him under a harrow. Then, one day, he went to pieces. He'll never see the office again.

"I wonder what will happen to the business?" We all said that. Every one of us thought that with the guiding star no longer in the firmament the craft would go on the rocks. But it is doing better than ever. The force is happier, more contented, the turnover is greater, the net profit larger. Yet the present chief was never considered the old man's equal. What is the answer?

"He gives his men a chance to make good," said one.

The Old Man wanted everything done his way. His way was the only way. The yes-men, who slavishly copied his methods, got along with him excellently, but the men with some independence of character and thought were in hot water all the time. He doubted them. He stormed at them if they departed from copy by the shading of the letter. His way might be no better than their way, but no matter. It was his way. He would have it done that way or not at all. A man who was not a mere mirror for him was no man at all. Consequently he was continually losing his best men. Other good men who stayed were discontented and unhappy.

Yes, it is one way to hold a job, of course. But it is not always the best thing for the job. Or for the yes-man.

THE LISTENING POST

The bigger the man, the gentler. The kinder. The more willing to listen. The more anxious to learn.

JAMES W. FOLEY

The reader to be courteous. Because bigness carries with it humility and a sense of obligation.

It is the little man who has no time to listen. Who is wholly engrossed with himself. Who does not want to learn anything. He knows it all already. What else is there for him to learn?

The big man wants to help. Because he knows how necessary help is. He wants people to be happy. Because he knows what a precious thing happiness is. He is friendly. Because he knows that an abiding civilization must be built on friendliness.

The big man is humble. Because he knows what a little thing the biggest individual is. Besides the whole scheme of things. A breath and the candle is blown out. And he knows he is like the candle to blow out at a breath.

So the big man is not greedy. He is not rough. He is not hasty in judgment. He finds time always to do the gracious and graceful thing. If you speak to him he answers in the same friendly spirit.

Songs of the Poets

Rondeau—By Herbert Gerhard Bruncken in The Mineret

O dark the day; grey mist descending
The branches black with rain are bending;
And snow-birds haunt the lonely air,
Like silent ships on oceans bare,
No gentle home their souls befriending.

The day shall have no radiant ending;
No sympathy of colors blending
The red and gold of sunsets fair.
O dark the day!

The leaden air the sea is lending
Its mourning tones; and the attending
Rocks and cliffs her colors bear.
The sea gulls voice the sea's despair,
Their lonely cries through mist ascending.
O dark the day!

THE SPIRIT OF THE COMMONS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THERE have been learned men and undoubted saints on earth and in every age, but that which distinguishes this from all foregoing ages is the movement to popularize science and sanctity.

The day of the esoteric has passed. If any man has something to say he is expected to say it in terms understandable by the people; and what he cannot say in this manner we suspect he does not know.

To suppose democracy to be a mere political affair is to mistake its wide bearing; for it lays its strong hand also on science, letters and religion.

The saint and the savant, in former time, had a contempt for "the world." They were offended when the common people understood them. Class aristocracy and superior-soul claptrap was rife in the church and the university as it was in court. The most striking trait of the twentieth century is the awakening of the human race to self-consciousness. A sonnet by Thomas Wade runs:

"There is a mighty dawning on the earth.
Of human glory; dreams unknown before
Fill the mind's boundless world; the deep-drawn lore,
But late a hidden fount, at which a few
Quaffed and were glad, is now a flowing river
Which parched nations may approach and view
Kneel down and drink."

The real progress of the world is the progress of the masses, not of the few. The men of genius who are writing today are doing no better work than Homer or Plato or

Horace, the improvement has been in the readers.

Evolution during the period covered by human history has not been marked so much by producing greater and greater geniuses but as it has by the slow rising of the level of the commons. It is the gradual advancement of the common people and the assertion of their rights and improvement in intelligence and culture that mark the onward sweep of humanity.

Saints and savants are no better now than they were a thousands years ago, but the great mass is better.

This world was made for the common people and they are slowly striding forward to take their inheritance.

(Copyright, 1923, by Dr. Frank Crane)

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

Rival bootleg gangs in Chicago are killing each other off, for business reasons, and apparently unconscious that they are elevating the moral average.

The late Tom Fitch was a "silver-tongued orator" before the Platte had been made famous by Bryan.

It would do any American good to read the letters of the late Franklin K. Lane occasionally.

Long Beach and Kansas City squabbling over the relative attendance at Bible class display the unique in municipal rivalries.

Dry winter is predicted, but happily by a prophet who knows nothing more about it than other people.

Probably the people of the east are surprised that the supreme court has upheld California's contentions as to alien land ownership.

Whatever the purpose of the ex-crown prince in Germany, it is safe to affirm that he is up to no good.

Having roller-skated from Los Angeles to San Francisco, the performer of the stunt is wondering why he did it.

Poor Ludendorff is now declared to have been seduced into folly, and has been equipped with a nice halo.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE WICKED HUSKERS

(Hartford Courant)

The way in which wicked capital is grinding the poor farmer out west is suggested by a dispatch from Omaha which says that corn huskers—not usually considered capitalists but likely soon to be—are demanding 10 per cent of the value of corn for husking it, and are making from $8 to $10 a day. Their wages before the war were from $2 to $3 per day.

Just how to likk this situation up with the Wall street profiteers, we leave to be explained to them by such men as the agricultural bloc of western senators may pick out. Evidently the farmer will cry out against the outrage of capital in such a shameful case, but we fall to see how it can be linked up with the malefactors of Wall street.

FOLLY OF PRICE FIXING

(Chicago Tribune)

The Roman Emperor Julian in the fourth century A. D. promulgated a law fixing the price of grain. It promoted a rebellion. Charlemagne did likewise in the ninth century, with similar failure. The republic of Argentina passed a law this year fixing a minimum price for cattle. Now we read a dispatch from Buenos Aires telling us that all the big British and American packers there have been forced to suspend operations because of the law. Still some farmers and their political agents in the American north-west are continuing to advocate government action to fix the price of wheat. It is folly. It could not work.

THE GOSPEL ACCORDING TO MATTHEW

"If anyone wants to go with me, he must disregard himself and take his cross and follow me. For whoever wants to preserve his own life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for me will find it. For what good will it do a man if he gains the whole world but parts with his life? What can a man give to buy back his life? For the Son of Man is going to come with his angels in his Father's glory, and then he will repay everyone for what he has done. I tell you, some of you who stand here will certainly live to see the Son of Man come to reign!"

Six days after this, Jesus took Peter and James and his brother John, and led them up on a high mountain, by themselves. And his appearance underwent a change in their presence and his face shone like the sun, and his clothes became as white as light. And Moses and Elijah appeared to them, talking with him. And Peter spoke, and said to Jesus,

"Master, how good it is that we are here! If you wish, I will make three huts here, one for you, and one for Moses, and one for Elijah."

As he spoke a bright cloud overshadowed them and a voice from the cloud said,

"This is my Son, my Beloved. He is my Chosen. Listen to him!"

When the disciples heard it, they were dreadfully frightened and fell upon their faces. And Jesus came and touched them, and said,

"Get up and do not be afraid."

When they looked up, they saw no one but Jesus himself. And as they were going down the mountain, Jesus cautioned them saying,

"Do not tell anyone of the vision you have seen until the Son of Man is raised from the dead."

The disciples asked him,

"Then why do the scribes say that Elijah has to come first?"

He answered, "Elijah does come and is to reform everything, but I tell you, Elijah has come already, and they would not recognize him, but treated him just as they pleased. It is in just that way that the Son of Man is going to be treated by them!"

Then the disciples understood that he was speaking to them of John the Baptist.

When they came to the people again, a man came up to him and fell on his knees, saying,

"Master, take pity on my son, for he has epilepsy and is very wretched; he often falls into the fire or into the water. And I brought him to your disciples and they have not been able to cure him."

Jesus answered, "O you unbelieving, obstinate people! How long must I be with you! How long must I put up with you? Bring him here to me!"

And Jesus reproved the demon and it came out of him, and from that moment the boy was cured. Afterward, when he was alone, the disciples went to Jesus and said to him,

"Why could we not drive it out?"

He said to them, "Because you have so little faith. For I tell you, if you have faith the size of a grain of mustard, you can say to this mountain 'Move from here over to there!' and it will move, and nothing will be impossible for you."

As they were going about in Galilee, Jesus said to them, "The Son of Man is going to be handed over to men, and they will kill him, but on the third day he will be raised to life again." And they were greatly distressed.

When they reached Capernaum, the collectors of the temple-tax came and said to Peter,

"Does not your Master pay the temple-tax?"

He said,

"Yes."

But when he went home, Jesus spoke of it first and said,

"What do you think, Simon? From whom do earthly kings collect duties and taxes? From their own people, or from aliens?"

He said,

"From aliens."

Jesus said to him, "Then their own people are exempt. But rather than give offense to them, go down to the sea and throw in a hook. Take the first fish that comes up, open its mouth and you will find in it a dollar. Take that and pay the tax for us both."

Just at that time the disciples came up and asked Jesus,

"Who is really greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven?"

He called a child to him and had him stand among them, and he said,

"I tell you, unless you change and become like children, you will never get into the Kingdom of Heaven at all. Anyone, therefore, who is as unassuming as this child is the greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven, and anyone who welcomes one child like this on my account welcomes me. But whoever hinders one of these children who believe in me might better have a great millstone hung around his neck and be sunk in the open sea. Alas for the world for such hindrances! They have to come, but alas for the man who causes them!"

"But if your own hand or your own foot makes you fall, cut it off and throw it away. You might better enter upon life maimed or crippled than keep both hands and feet but be thrown into the everlasting fire. And if your own eye makes you fall, dig it out and throw it away. You might better enter upon life with only one eye than be thrown with both eyes into the fiery pit."

"Beware of feeling scornful of one single little child, for I tell you that in heaven their angels have continual access to my Father in heaven. What do you think? If a man has a hundred sheep and one of them strays away, will he not leave the ninety-nine on the hills, and go in search of the one that is astray? And if he happens to find it, I tell you he rejoices more over it than he does over the ninety-nine that did not stray. In just that way, it is the will of my Father in heaven that not a single one of these children be lost."

"But if your brother wrongs you, go to him and show him his fault while you are alone with him. If he listens to you, you have won back your brother. But if he will not listen, take one or two others with you, so that everything may be supported by the testimony of two or three witnesses. If he refuses to listen to them, tell the congregation. And if he refuses to listen to it, treat him as a heathen or a tax-collector."

"I tell you, whatever you forbid on earth will be held in heaven to be forbidden and whatever you permit on earth will be held in heaven to be permitted. Again, I tell you, if even two of you here on earth agree about what they shall pray for, it will be given by my Father in heaven. For wherever two or three are gathered as my followers, I am there among them."

Then Peter came to him and said, "Master, how many times am I to forgive my brother when he wrongs me? Seven times over?"

Jesus said to him,

THE GRAY CAR, LONG EXPECTED, ARRIVES IN GLENDAL

The Boulevards Are Calling You, So Why Not "Hit the Pavement?"

RECEPTION GIVEN THIS NEW ARRIVAL SHOWS THAT LOCAL MOTORISTS KNOW VALUES

For Years the Gray Has Been Standing Up Under All Conditions in The East—Now It Comes To Lead All Cars in California.

IT IS KNOWN AS REAL ECONOMY CAR

W. H. Daniel, 510 East Broadway, Local Dealer, Says That the Gray is Every Inch a Genuine Automobile—and It Looks It.

The Gray car is here.

Motorists have been hearing during the past few weeks that the Gray car was coming. It has been out in the east for months and months—long enough to show that every claim made for it is absolutely true. The demand for these cars in the east has so nearly absorbed the output of the factories that it has taken the Gray a long time to get to California.

But the pretty little "baby" is here at last.

And to say that it is attracting considerable attention on the part of motorists in this section of the country is putting it very mildly. The beautiful lines of this machine and the wonderful, standard specifications have pushed it to the front "right off the reel."

"It is truly remarkable the way the Gray has taken hold," said W. H. Daniel, 510 East Broadway, local dealer for the Gray and the Packard lines, "and we attribute this reception to nothing but the true merits of the machine. The automobile buying public has become so well acquainted with the good points of automobiles in general that it knows genuine merit when it sees it. I can truthfully say that the Gray is a real car from bumper to bumper. It's a little go-getter when it comes to power and speed and when it comes to economy—well, it's the last word—that's all there is to it."

The Gray's claim that it is an economy car has been definitely established by performance that has been an official record. A Gray stock touring car was driven in the Fall of 1922 from San Francisco to New York under ordinary driving conditions. The car had no special equipment and was accompanied the entire journey by an official observer of the American Automobile Association.

This sturdy car established a new economy record—one that will undoubtedly stand for a long time to come—an average of 33.8 miles per gallon of gasoline for 4819 miles of travel.

The Gray is an achievement. To build a car that could establish such a remarkable economy performance, that included such a high quality in every detail, that was so easy riding and so graceful in appearance is no small accomplishment.

Technical excellence that appeals to the engineer, comforts and conveniences that attract the motorist, characterize the Gray. It is a quality car throughout—a car that includes every desirable feature yet avoids unnecessary expense.

Realizing that low first cost, low operating cost and mechanical efficiency were the primary requirements.

DEATH VALLEY IS EASY FOR THIS GEOLOGIST

If there are any unusual travel conditions to be encountered in the Southwest you may be sure that Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Noble of Valeremo have experienced them. For Mr. Noble is a government geologist and his wife accompanies him on many of his trips. Noble has made ten trips and through Death Valley since 1916—all in Franklins—and Mrs. Noble has visited the famous below sea-level valley six times, driving the car from Confidence Mill to the salt beds, the very floor of the valley, on one trip.

In August of 1922 Noble received orders to proceed to Kanab, Utah, to join a government pack train for the exploration of the north rim of the Grand Canyon and the Colorado River from the junction of Kanab creek and the river as far as the junction of the San Juan River. Packing up, they set forth in their ever-ready Franklin and made a short cut to Las Vegas, Nev., by way to Death Valley, making the crossing on August 13, with a mercury way up out of bounds.

While in the East recently they took delivery on their fourth Franklin at the factory, and after visiting relatives for several weeks shipped it out, since when they have made numerous trips. On the first of this month, accompanied by W. C. Mendenshall, chief geologist of the United States Geological Survey, Noble drove to the top of Pilot Peak, near Mina, Nev., a mountain 9000 feet high, and the Franklin was the first car up. On the way over Mendenshall remarked: "They must have dragged the road, the car rides so easy," for his car, supplied by the government, had always led him to suppose the roads were "awful."

The Motor Sales company, 406 East Colorado street, will be glad any time to tell the interested motorist all about the Franklin auto.

IF AUTOMOBILES COULD ONLY TALK

"If Automobiles could talk, what interesting stories they would tell!" said the manager of the Kelley Motor Co., 230 North Brand, local Essex dealer. The romance of travel, adventure, heroic efforts, success and failure could be written into the history of nearly every car.

"It is only now and then, when their owners pause in their daily occupation long enough to talk about them, that interesting facts come to light."

vehicles which are not in conformity with those tested at the state's testing agency. While these lenses carry the name under which approval has been granted, they are in reality entirely dissimilar devices. Retests are to be made on some of these devices in the near future and if the report is proven to be true, prosecution under the provisions of the new act, of those involved, will be made. Likewise a prohibition against the sale of the lenses will be authorized until such time as the manufacturers are able to satisfy the department that they are distributing in California the kind and type of lenses on which they have received approval.

Request has been made for the registration of trucks and other vehicles equipped with coal oil lamps and other devices not approved by the department, on the grounds that the machines are operated in the daytime only. The law under Section 100, however, expressly states: "Every motor vehicle . . . shall be equipped with two headlights of approximately equal candlepower at the front of and on opposite sides of such vehicle." The law further states that every machine sold or offered for sale for operation on the public highways must be equipped in compliance with the specifications prescribed within the act, none of which specifications permit of the use of any except approved headlight devices and lenses. The chief of the department has therefore ruled that every vehicle operated on the public highways whether in daytime or night, must be properly equipped.

Attention of the department has been called to excessive charges made by some of the adjusting stations recently certified. While no fixed charge is prescribed by the department, an ordinary adjustment should be made for not to exceed 75 cents. Any charge in excess of that amount is deemed exorbitant and wherever it is proven excessive charges are being made the Division of Motor Vehicles will deem that sufficient cause for the revocation of adjusting station certificates.

'CAD.' SHOWS WELL AT DISPLAY IN L. A.

Among the exhibits at the closed car shows now in progress in various parts of the country, the Imperial sedan, a new model in the V-63 line presented by the Cadillac Motor Car company, is exciting unusual attention. It contains a number of new features which heretofore have been obtainable only in the highest-priced custom coachwork. According to Lynn McNaughton, Cadillac vice-president and general sales manager, expectations are that the Imperial sedan will prove one of the company's most popular 1924 models.

"A plate glass division between the front and rear compartments is the particular feature which differentiates the Imperial sedan from the sedan," states Mr. McNaughton. "It extends across the whole width of the car and can be raised or lowered at will."

"When the car is chauffeur driven, the turning of a handle raises the partition, giving the same complete privacy to the rear compartment as in an Imperial limousine. This glass is curved, 7-32 inch thick and of mirror finish, conforming in quality with the many refinements which have been added to the whole line of V-63 closed models."

"When the owner drives the Imperial sedan, the partition is lowered and completely disappears in the back of the front seat, giving the cozy companionship of the standard sedan. This same feature, which patrons demanding the extreme touches of refinement have formerly been able to obtain only in custom work, is included in the seven-passenger Imperial suburban."

"Our distributors report that visitors at the shows have expressed marked interest in many other improvements in the new Cadillac bodies."

W. H. Court of the Court Motor company, 285 South Brand boulevard, local dealers for the "Cad.", states that "his car is making a real hit at the automobile show that is now being held in Los Angeles."

PHYSICIAN USES JEWETT TO AID SICK

"We need an ambulance at once!"

"An ambulance?", asked the doctor. "No, not an ambulance, my car will serve the purpose."

The physician was the owner and driver of a Jewett Brougham. He had been attracted to it by the advertising of a permanent finish but found out for himself just how valuable the car was to him in his profession.

By pushing forward the front seat that is beside the driver, pulling the rear seat cushion and placing it on the floor in the center of the tonneau and covering the whole with an air mattress, the doctor found that he had an excellent conveyance for invalids who required immediate transportation to a hospital.

Ralph B. Bliss, 306 East Colorado, local Jewett distributor, states that dealers in this city have many orders from doctors in their files made purely through this convenience of the automobile.

"Of course," added Mr. Bliss, "the high bake enamel finish that resists all kinds of weather, good and bad, makes it an usually attractive buy for the doctor."

BEAUTY IS ADDED TO NEW STAR BODY

The new Star car, with its improved and beautiful body is being received with open arms by the automobile lovers of Glendale. In fact, it seems to be filling a need that has long existed. Realizing this the car buyers of Glendale are daily storming the headquarters of the Dilley & Armstrong company 115 West Harvard street, local dealers for the Star.

The sale of 125,000 Star cars during the first year of its existence shows conclusively that it is filling a long-felt need. With the new body it is being received even better than ever.

Mechanically, even Durant could not find a flaw in its makeup, could suggest no improvement. But in planning the second year's output he determined to add to the beauty and refinement of the Star car and to produce perfect harmony between chassis and body excellence.

This is the reason behind the 1924 Star car.

YOU SHOULD KNOW THAT—

Executives in the automobile industry in New York City will organize a club along lines similar to the Transportation club, which has its headquarters in the Biltmore.

It is proposed to add to Uncle Sam's income by taxing all advertising signs and billboards along the highways.

IF AUTOMOBILE COULD ONLY TALK

fell heavily upon his shoulders. He found it necessary to haul lumber, stone, cement, sand and other building material for use in and about the camp grounds and at the same time supervise the building of automobile roads to the park.

He had no less than six different makes of automobiles in the summer of 1922 all of which failed to stand up under the terrific strain of 22 per cent grades, second gear work at fifteen miles an hour, and ton and a half loads in the tonneau.

The next to the last automobile he tried, ran as far from Big Pines along the Foothill Boulevard as Monrovia and refused to function any further. Leaving the car standing on the city street Mr. Wadsworth and his wife boarded the P. E. train to Los Angeles.

He went to the room where the County Supervisors hold their meetings and happened to find them in session.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I need transportation and need it badly. You have given me several different automobiles all of which failed to stand up under the strain of special service I must put them to. Now, I want a real auto."

"Well," said the Chairman, "what kind of a car do you wish?"

"I want an Essex," he replied, "and if you will give me a purchase order, I will take care of the details."

By noon he had taken delivery of his automobile and was on his way to Big Pines.

In 18 months he has driven his car 21,000 miles, which is 15,000 miles farther than any other make of car, not excepting "slices" and "weights," were able to go.

A SPARK PLUG TROUBLE

Most drivers and mechanics are familiar with the usual spark plug troubles. However, there is one, though seldom encountered, which is greatly misleading. In some cases, the insulating material used in the construction of the plug is porous, permitting a leakage of the current through the porcelain. In addition to this, the carbon which is one of the products of combustion, is absorbed, so that in time what was once an insulator becomes a conductor. The spark plug may be taken apart and cleaned, so that it appears in perfect condition, yet it will not operate satisfactorily, with the result that another part of the system receives the blame. The only remedy in such cases is to replace the plug.—Automobile Digest.

A BRAKE ADJUSTING WRENCH

External brakes which are adjusted by turning a thumbnut which is reached through the spokes of the wheel, may be easily tightened by the use of a special wrench made from a piece of pipe, about eighteen inches long, which is slotted across the end to engage the wings of the nut. A hole in the opposite end takes a rod which is used for turning.—Automobile Digest.

CHEV. PRICE CUT BRINGS BIG RESULTS

That Chevrolet is cutting a wide swath in the automobile industry is demonstrated by figures recently published by the Automobile Industries. These figures show that during the first seven months of this year the total production of motor vehicles was 2,344,000, an increase of 63 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The Chevrolet increase was 101 per cent, or 38 per cent above the general average. Chevrolet sales amounted to more than 11 per cent of the total products of the entire industry for the period.

Production of the whole industry for July, 1923, exceeded July, 1922, by 29 per cent. The Chevrolet increase for July, 1923, over July of last year, was 60 per cent, or more than double the average for the entire industry.

With the sensational cut in prices by the Chevrolet Company recently it is predicted by members of the local Chevrolet Dealers' Association that the November sales record will leap far ahead of that of the previous months of the year.

While a large part of this increase is due to the price cut, the dealers claim that a large percentage of the additional sales has been made because of the fact that the motor buying public is recognizing more and more the absolute worth and integrity of Chevrolet transportation.

Not only, they assert, is the first cost nominal, but the upkeep is so slight that almost anyone can operate a Chevrolet without pinching the pocketbook. Then another factor is the recognized ability of a Chevrolet to climb hills and make the grade over any kind of a road or trail without damage to the car or discomfort or inconvenience to the driver or occupants.

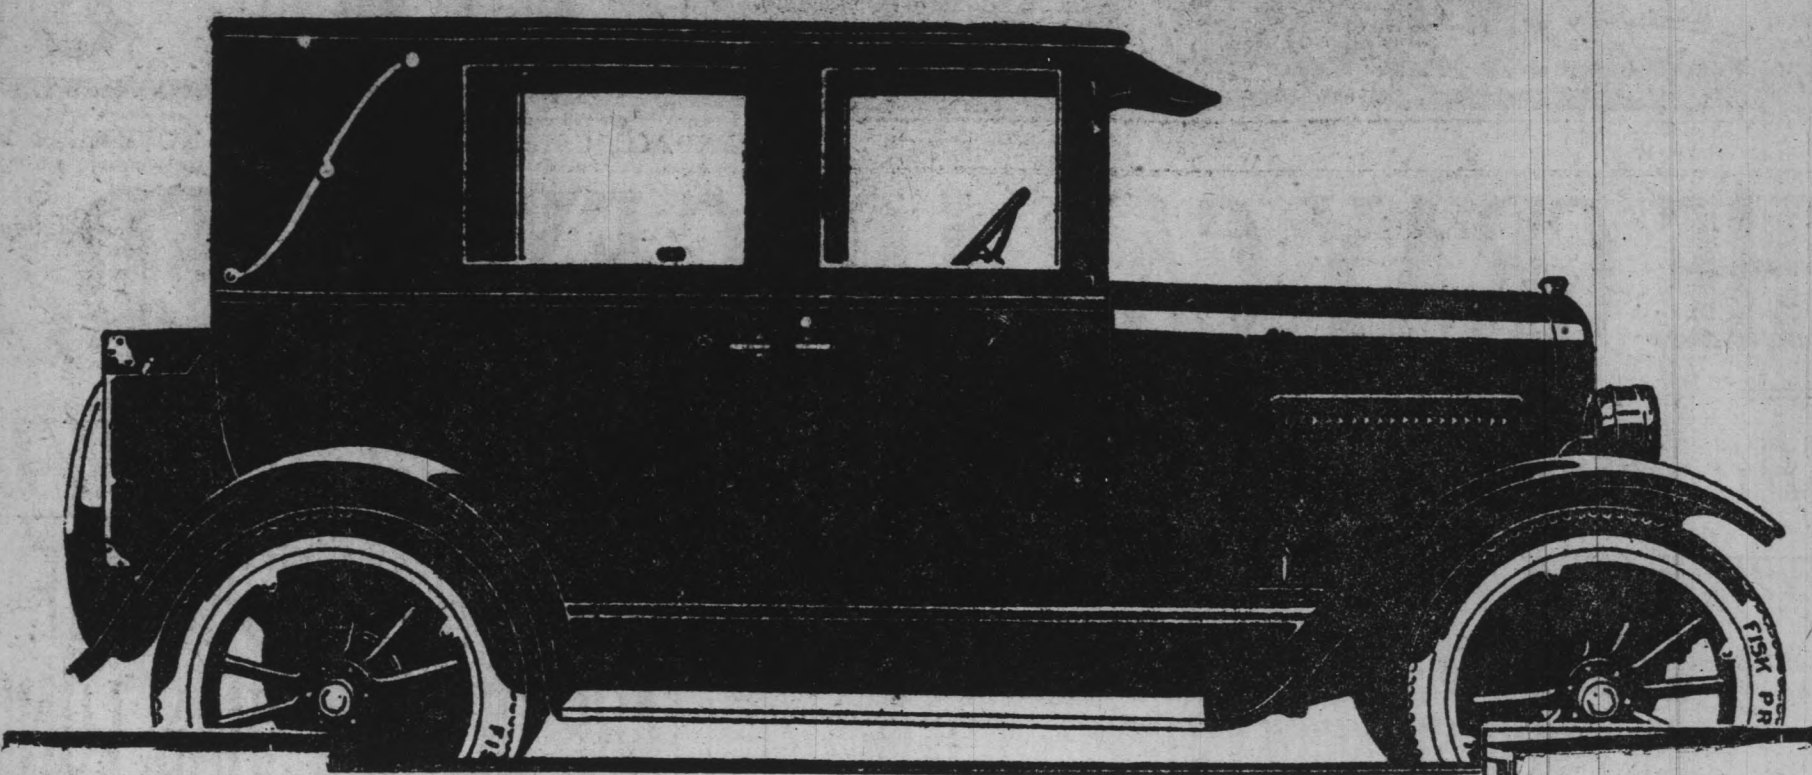

C. L. Smith, Harvard and Colorado, is dealer for the "Chevie" in Glendale, and the San Fernando valley.

DANGER WHEN INFLATING OLD TIRES

A motor is in constant danger when inflating a tire that has been repaired. Stand away from the rim. If the tire has not been properly mounted, or if by chance the rim has become badly stretched or defective, a serious accident may occur if the tire blows off the rim. A lot of trouble has resulted while inflating tires that were not fully or properly mounted.

A simple and efficient cure, although it is not of a permanent nature, is the fitting between the door and its pillars of rubber studs which are especially made for the purpose. They consist of a small nail or pin, the head of which is embedded in a semi-spherical head of rubber. They should be preferably let into a recess, cut with a brace and bit in the pillar; they will be found to silence door rattle for a considerable period and can be renewed in a few seconds when worn. These studs can be obtained for a few cents a dozen from any coachbuilders' supplier or accessory dealer.—Automobile Digest.

'THEM BACK-EAST FOLKS IS COMIN'

Everybody's doing it—coming to Southern California. An organization that is in a position to know states that 300 automobiles are coming to Southern California daily—and many of these are bound for Glendale.

According to the report just issued by the auto club, the western terminals of the long, long trails have never been in better condition for travel than at the present time.

Actual hordes of motorists are escaping to the Pacific coast from the freezing eastern states for the winter, it is reported.

All sorts of vehicles are being used in this westward migration. They are coming in flocks, on bicycles, on motorcycles and in traveling palaces, and all are avidly questioning each other they pass as to industrial conditions in the southern counties of California!

THE WHY OF AUTO LIGHTS

The primary requirement of the California headlight law is that there be sufficient illumination in front of the car at all times, while driving on the highway at night, for the driver to readily observe or discern a substantial object or person at 200 feet. THIS IS IMPOSSIBLE IF THE LIGHTS ARE DIMMED OR POORLY ARRANGED.

If your reflectors are bent, rusted, fogged or scratched they must be repaired, polished or replaced until the light emanating therefrom will admit of the correct observations being made. This might seem to the layman to be more or less too strict, but it is actually done for the protection of the drivers with the poor lights, simply because the persons driving with insufficient illumination are placing themselves in a position where they will be more susceptible to the approaching motorists' bright lights than if they had the roadway properly illuminated.

Did you ever see a pair of headlights glare or dazzle in the day-time? Possibly not. Why is that? They are the same lamp bulbs, the same reflectors, the same lenses and the same battery, yet they do not glare. The reason for this is, the sun enters into the problem and, shining upon the highway, reflects back into the eyes of the driver and causes the pupil of the eye to maintain a constancy that will not admit the glare or dazzle to penetrate into the retina of the eye, thereby causing a stress of the eye nerves, or tissues. Therefore, the nearer we can approach at night to the sunlight condition of the day upon the highway, the less will be the possibility of "glare."

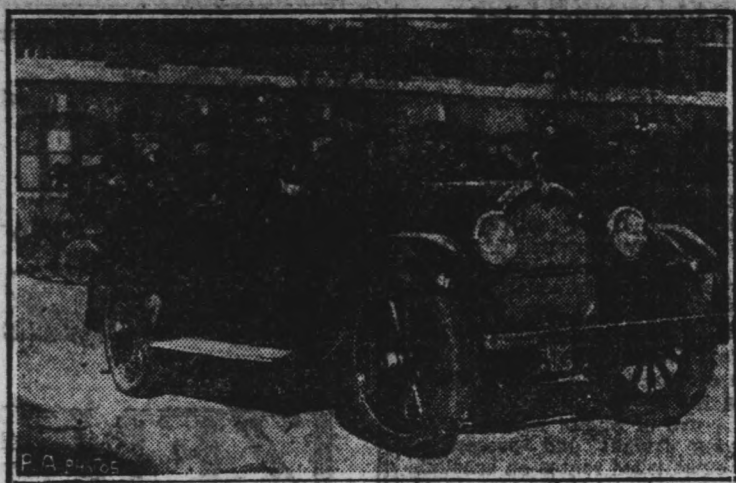

It is apparent, then, that the brighter we have our lights in front of the car or upon the highway, the less is the possibility of being driven off the road with the bright lights of the approaching motorists, but do not overlook the all important fact that this must be accomplished without the glare on your own car.

It is desired to have this point clearly understood by the motoring public and will draw an analogy that will prove the question—You have all been in a dark room and you possibly know that when you are in a dark room that the pupil of the eye enlarges. It does so naturally to admit all the light possible into the eye so that you may observe objects in the darkened room.

Suppose, then, that you are driving your car down the highway with your lights in the dim position, or with insufficient illumination, here is what happens.

The pupil of the eye enlarges, the same as in the dark room, because you have poor light in front of you with absolutely no reflection from the roadway to give the pupil of the eye any degree of constancy and it therefore enlarges to its maximum position. While you are driving thus, suppose you are approached by another vehicle with bright lights which will shine in your eye and cause the pupil of the eye to dilate, or get smaller. The closer you are approached by this car the smaller does the pupil in your eye become, closer and closer, smaller and smaller, until the approaching car is upon you and passes you and then the condition of the eye is against you, as the pupil is small and you are in the dark. It will take the three and two-tenths seconds to adjust itself to the darkness and while this is

IZEN POLISH ROLLIN CAR IS DEMONSTRATION IS STILL ON 'REGULAR' FELLOW

Izen, the wonder metal preservative, continues to draw large crowds daily to the Monarch Auto Supply Co., where it is being demonstrated this week. Hundreds have attended the demonstration during the past week, marveling at its polish holding properties, and having tarnished silver and other articles restored to their former state.

Of special interest to the motorist is the fact that this fluid will, when applied to nickel, headlights, or other light colored metals about the machine, retain its polish for an indefinite time, extending for several years. This does away with the constant shining and polishing which worries most car owners, and better yet, guarantees radiator and headlights shiny if properly applied.

An exhibit of Izen is now being featured in the windows of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, which strongly show the wonders of the magic fluid. Many old pieces of silver, aluminum, etc., are shown with Izen applied, and very much resembles that which is new. This new discovery will destroy and prevent rust, tarnish, corrosion, and other metal destroyers, and is a necessity in every home and garage.

A story is told of a farmer in northern Illinois, whose farm is located on a dirt road, which is impassable during the winter if a frost comes when the road is in a rough condition. Last fall, when the road was at its worst, he got a radio warning of an immediate and heavy frost. Calling his neighbors by telephone, they turned out and rolled the road. When the freeze came, it proved to be permanent, and the radio owner and his neighbors had a boulevard to town all winter.

taking place you are in absolute darkness, or blinded, it will do no good to close your eyelids, as your pupil is reversing its position.

If under this condition you are traveling at a speed of 35 miles per hour, you will travel in the three and two-tenths seconds, just 144 feet, and it is in this period of travel that you lose your sense of bearing and lose also the control of the car with a possible accident. It was at this point that 9451 accidents occurred in the United States last year from statistics compiled which show 14,682 accidents directly traceable to headlights. There were, incidentally, 6137 deaths from the same cause, not to mention the loss of limb and property.

"Back of the Rollin car is an ideal," said the manager of the Motor Sales company, 406 East Colorado street, local dealers for this car this morning. "It is the ideal of a car that would out-perform anything in or near its class field that had ever been produced in Europe or America—a car that would operate successfully over a long period of years—a car that would have an almost unbelievable gasoline and tire economy—a car that would freely give all that you ask of it in speed, hill climbing, easy riding, quick getaway and delightful trafficability—a car that would be a constant delight to its owner."

"Such a car we believe the Rollin to be and such a car we believe all purchasers will find it to be."

"The Rollin has a four-bearing crankshaft, something that is not found in other four-cylinder machines. It has Firestone balloon tires—the only machine of its price to be equipped with these casings. "The specifications of the Rollin are a revelation and are such as are usually found in none but the higher priced machines."

ANOTHER BRANCH FOR AUTO CLUB

Motorists in Huntington Park and vicinity are congratulating themselves over the opening of a new branch office of the Automobile Club of Southern California at 412 South Pacific boulevard. There are more than 1,000 members of the organization in this district whom the new office will serve. This is the twenty-ninth branch of the club in Southern California.

New quarters are being occupied by the auto club in Pasadena, a and Riverside branches. In Pasadena the former quarters in the Maryland hotel have been deserted for the new Spanish type building at 332 West Colorado street, corner of Terrace Drive. This is one of the largest of the 29 branches of the auto club, the office force including seventeen persons. More than 6,000 members are in this territory. In Riverside a new building at 1010 West Seventh street has been completed for the club activities. Four employees will serve more than 2,000 members in this district.

Always signal with hand when slowing down, turning, or stopping, even though you have an automatic or mechanical warning device.

of the ordinarily good roads there are one or more detours—which usually add to the "pleasures" of the jaunt.

The following report on road conditions has just been received by the touring department of the local branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California:

Glendale to "Frisco," Coast, 452 MI. Three paved roads are available between Los Angeles and Ventura: one via the Ventura State Highway and Conejo Grade, one via Santa Susana Pass and one via Saugus, Fillmore and Santa Paula, although on the first mentioned route a small detour is necessary through the Santa Clara River Wash between El Rio and Montalvo. Continuous pavement will be found north from Ventura to Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, Paso Robles, King City and Salinas to San Francisco or Oakland, with several small exceptions. A short stretch of dirt road is encountered at Pismo Beach and another at King City. Shoulders are being installed north of San Mateo and motorists should use care in passing. Construction work is also under way just north of San Jose on the main road between there and Oakland and a small detour is necessary.

Glendale to "Frisco," Valley, 407 MI. Pavement is continuous over this route by way of the Ridge Road, Bakersfield, Fresno, Merced and Modesto to Oakland. The construction work which has been under way for some time between Tulare and Goshen Junction has now been completed and motorists are again using the main highway. Leaving Glendale go north on San Fernando road through San Fernando and on over Ridge route. Optional routes are also had north of Bakersfield, one direct via the State Highway through Delano, Tulare and Goshen, the other approximately 18 miles longer by way of Delano, Porterville, Exeter and Visalia.

Glendale to San Diego, Coast, 132 Miles. Continuous pavement will be found over this entire routing either by way of the Whittier Boulevard or Telegraph Road to Fullerton, thence through Anaheim, Santa Ana and San Juan Capistrano. There is a small detour just south of Oceanside, where a new bridge is being installed. An optional route is also available via Huntington Park, Bell, Downey and Norwalk, and continuous pavement will be found over this route.

Glendale to San Diego, Inland, 176 Miles. Pavement is continuous by way of El Monte, Puente, Pomona and Ontario, thence via Wineville, Riverside and Perris to Escondido, Temecula and to the San Diego County line, with the exception of dirt road through Perris and one mile east of Escondido. The Red Mountain Grade from the county line to Fallbrook is improved dirt road. The first mile and a half below the county line has recently been plowed and is being leveled, but travel is going through without difficulty. There are also two bridges under construction where detours are necessary. Pavement extends south from Fallbrook to the San Luis Rey River at Bonsall. Excellent road is next traversed for 4.5 miles, where, on account of construction, a detour is necessary the remaining distance into San Diego.

An optional route is available from Los Angeles by way of Fullerton, Anaheim and Orange, thence via Santa Ana Canyon to Corona and south through Temescal Canyon to Escondido. Pavement is continuous on this route with the exception of 6 miles and this is now under construction.

SHORT TOURS
Elizabeth Lake
Fair conditions prevail thru either Bonquet or San Francisco canyons. Another routing is by way of Mint Canyon to Palmdale over paved road, with an excellent dirt road from this point to the Lake. Pine Canyon from Elizabeth Lake to Neenach and Quail Lake offers fairly good traveling.

Los Angeles to Beaches
Pavement is continuous over a choice of several routes. Santa Monica Boulevard, Wilshire, Pico, West Adams and Washington Boulevard, although on the latter resurfacing work is being done between Rimpau and West Adams Boulevard and that section is closed. Travel using Washington Boulevard will be required to turn south at Rimpau and proceed to West Adams.

Inglewood—Redondo Boulevard
Paved complete via the Redondo Boulevard or via Hawthorne and the Riverside-Redondo Boulevard.

CANYON AND MOUNTAIN DRIVES
San Antonio Canyon
Pavement extends north from Upland or the Foothill Boulevard to San Antonio Heights with an excellent dirt and gravel road through the Canyon to Camp Baldy.

San Antonio Canyon
This road at present is in very good condition, but is recommended only to experienced mountain drivers on account of the steep grades and many turns. A toll of 25c per car and 25c per passenger is charged. A control is in effect on Sundays and holidays. Control Schedule will be found on last pages of this report.

San Bernardino to Lake Arrowhead via Hesperia
Pavement is complete by way of San Bernardino and the Cajon Pass to the Gas Station, approximately ten miles beyond the Summit. Excellent dirt road, somewhat soft in places, will be found to Hesperia, with a fair dirt road from there to the bridge across Deep Creek. This road, while not as steep as Waterman Canyon, is very narrow and has many sharp turns.

Thus wider roads becomes the solution of the problem, it is pointed out.

That the motor trucks are doing their bit for the motorists in the construction of new and wider roads, is shown by a report of truck activity in San Gabriel canyon where the county is broadening the highways through this popular motoring spot. Great steam shovels are biting out chunks of mountain and trucks are being employed to haul the extra debris and dump it over into the canyon bottom. As a result, it is reported, the canyon road up from Azusa, which formerly was a narrow two-car highway, is being broadened so that four cars may be accommodated.

condition. Apparently the material was a natural cement mixed with pebbles and worked into a road about twelve inches thick.

The art seems to have been lost for nearly two thousand years, the next example being in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1872, when some concrete pavements, still in use and good condition, were made.

In our own country, Bellefontaine, Ohio, gets credit for being the first municipality to experiment with cement streets, in 1893. But it is really Wayne county, Mich., the Detroit automobile factory region, which made the concrete highway known to the nation.

This early experiment was in 1907. In 1909 less than half a million square yards of concrete were laid (perhaps fifty miles), while in 1921 more than sixty million square yards were laid (more than 7,000 miles).

One of the greatest advantages of concrete is the low cost of hauling, its surface being less resistant to traffic effort than any we know. Dynamometer measurements show that the tractive force required to move a wheeled ton of weight on a level road are, for concrete, 32.5 pounds; for asphalt, 77.7 pounds; for brick, 51.3 pounds; for cobble, 134.7 pounds.

A taxi company so situated that it drove one set of cars almost entirely on dirt roads and another set almost entirely on concrete roads, reports that it costs 2.4 cents less per mile to operate the taxis on the cement road than on the dirt roads.

There are 12,000,000 automobiles in the country. If they average the low amount of 3,000 miles each per year, the total sum of $720,000,000 a year could go towards building hard surface roads, which would build 24,000 miles of permanent highways every year.

Automobiles in the United States now consume nearly 6,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline a year. This amount of "gas" would fill a lake a mile deep and covering three and a half acres.

Five million three hundred thousand gallons of gasoline were consumed by automobiles in the U. S. in 1922.

RICK. IS AFTER QUALITY, NOT QUANTITY

"Yes!—we will not make 100,000 automobiles in 1924"—exclaimed E. F. Everitt, President and General Manager of the Rickenbacker Motor Company, when asked to verify a story that is going the rounds.

"Right now we are vastly more interested in improving the quality than in multiplying the quantity of Rickenbacker cars."

"When I hear these ridiculously exaggerated stories, I don't know whether to get mad or laugh at them," said Mr. Everitt.

"I suppose we should take such gossip as a compliment. The growth and success of the Rickenbacker Motor company has been so phenomenal that people can hardly be blamed for associating some Aladdin-like legend with it."

"However the making of motor cars is a very material operation. You can not conjure a good motor car out of the ether—nor wish it into existence."

"No, we are not ambitious to make all the automobiles in the world."

"We will not be a candidate against Henry; have no desire to push. Durant off the earth; nor do we hope in the next century or so to make the output of all General Motors' units second to ours!"

"On the contrary, our most ardent desire is to keep out of that class entirely."

The men who comprise the Rickenbacker organization are men of the most seasoned experience. "We crept before we walked, and as we have grown the Directors have become ever more cautious at each step, lest we blunder into one of the pitfalls that have proven the undoing of other concerns headed by men of less experience."

"Buyers are beginning to consider the stability of a maker as of greater importance than spectacular stunts either in finance, or in production."

"Dividends to shareholders as well as satisfaction to the user are more certain by this policy than when an attempt is made to corner the market or dominate the industry."

"My own experience, which dates from the inception of the industry, tells me that at a very definite point in production, volume becomes incompatible with the degree of quality which satisfies the pride of the maker and the expectations of the buyer."

"My experience tells me that that point is reached at about fifty, and passed at about 100 cars per day."

"For the year 1924, our plans call

A great reception was given Lloyd George and his family on their arrival at Winnipeg, Canada, the other day. This photo shows Lloyd George with the Mayor of Winnipeg, leaving the railroad station on his arrival in that city.

Lloyd George was highly impressed with the progressive influence of the motor car upon the American public. Lloyd George chose an Oldsmobile for his convenience during his visit in Winnipeg.

Knowing the Olds as he does, C. H. Hunter, 208-10 West Broadway, local dealer, says, he does not wonder that Lloyd George selected that make of car.

OFFICIAL REPORTS BUSINESS AS 'LIVELY'

A. T. Stanton, Director of Service, Maxwell Motor Corporation and Chalmers Motor Car company, recently returned from an extended trip in the South, reports a lively business by Maxwell and Chalmers dealers visited.

"Notwithstanding apprehension as to the cotton crop in Georgia and South Carolina," Mr. Stanton stated, "there is no let-up in sales."

"Florida dealers particularly are enjoying a truly remarkable closed car business. At no point did I find any accumulation of used cars in the hands of our dealers."

"I gained two very definite impressions during my trip. "One is the solid mass of faith, loyalty and confidence in the new Maxwell-Chalmers manufacturing and sales organizations as well as a keen appreciation of the earning power of our franchise."

"The other impression is that the Maxwell Flat Rate Guaranteed Service plan has been as eagerly and as readily accepted by the small dealer as by the large one. This occasions no surprise because the system is laid out in such a simple and thoroughly workable manner as to immediately effect shop economies, produce legitimate profits and directly increase new car sales."

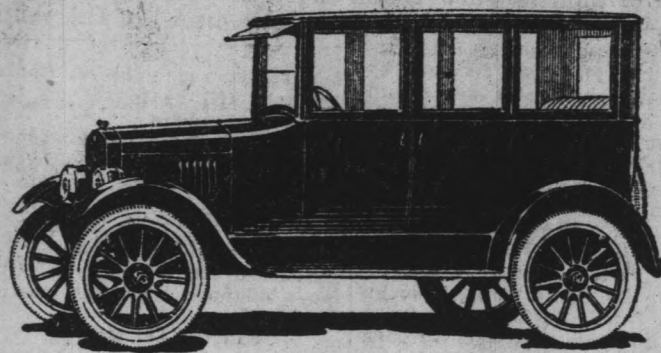

The Glendale Motor company, 125 West Colorado street, is dealer for the Maxwell and Chalmers automobiles.

THE GRAY SEDAN—AN ADMIRABLE FAMILY CAR

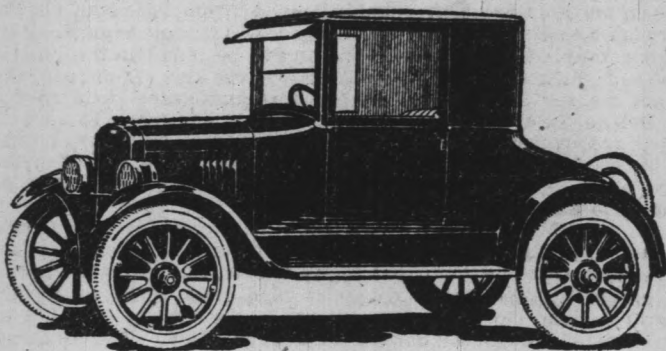

quisites the Gray car was planned with those thoughts in mind. No labor was shirked in design, no expense was spared in building strongly and well to produce a machine that would operate unfailingly.

Only long years of automobile experience could produce a car equal to the Gray at such an astonishingly low price. In every detail of its remarkable performance, the Gray reflects the abilities of its builders. It is a light car, easy on tires—a durable, sturdy car that instantly kindles pride of ownership.

While mechanical excellence has been foremost in the minds of Gray designers, the graceful lines of the various models indicate that the appearance has not been neglected.

cars do not often make them on high. Our man with his customer went out to the base of these hills and waited for some French-made cars to come along, and then modestly suggested that they try a little race on high speed to the top of the hills. This they did for most of the afternoon, all being quite excited with the sport of it, since the little Gray car won out in every instance until demonstration and customer began to think themselves invincible. They easily won out over a number of well-known European makes. Needless to say, the prospective customer came into town and purchased a Gray.

"As to gasoline consumption, our demonstration also showed that the Grays are maintaining the re-

THE PRETTY GRAY COUPE

Careful attention to niceties of design make it a car you will be proud to own; one that your family will thoroughly enjoy.

Just a word about power. Having annexed the world's economy record of 33.8 miles per gallon of gas on its famous run from San Francisco to New York, the Gray car is now establishing hill climbing records in Europe. Word to this effect was received by Gray Motor officials this week from their European representative, C. A. Robertson, headquarters in Paris.

Mr. Robertson in telling of the Gray performance in France had, in part, the following to say: "Yesterday we made a demonstration of the Gray for a prospective customer, a French dentist. He was driven in the car out along the road to Versailles on which there are two formidable hills, that of St. Cloud and further on that known as Cote de Picardy, both so long and steep that the local "Business conditions are gradually improving on this side, and I look forward to a big sale of American cars in these countries in the near future. The Gray car seems to be just the type of car needed here, and its success and acceptance on this side is assured."

Mr. Daniel, dealer for the Gray and Packard in the entire San Fernando valley has been in the automobile business for the past fourteen years, and it was only after the most careful study of the specifications of these two machines that he decided to "take them on." Especially is this true with regard to the Gray, the Packard and being a car that needs no "once over."

The parts that are used in the Gray, claims Mr. Daniel, have been used in standard automobiles for the past fifteen years. That is why the Gray is standing up under all kinds of usage.

WILLYS - OVERLAND REPRESENTATIVES ATTEND CLINICS

The Willys Overland Corporation have given ample demonstration of their new progressive policy in the past year in bringing to the front the remarkable value in their Willys Knight cars today which has enabled it to climb close to the top in motor car registrations not only throughout California but through the United States as a whole.

In line with this policy they have now turned their attention to the building up of their service and looking after the welfare of their customers. The factory recently inaugurated service clinics in the principal distribution points of the country in order to train a host of head service men in giving attention quickly and accurately to the minor difficulties which all motor car owners have more or less to contend with without having to resort to experienced factory men as has been the custom in the past with practically every motor car manufactured, the average small town service station experience has proved in the past, has not been up to the high standard that it should be and not thoroughly conversant of the cars upon which they work. This due to the continual changing of mechanics and service men.

Smith-Sloan, Inc., local dealers of these cars have prided themselves on building a permanent organization or as it were one large family all working with the same interests at stake that of providing the best possible attention to their customers wants. Mr. W. B. Wilson who has been with this firm for three years as service manager spent the entire week of November 4th to 11th attending this clinic in Los Angeles which lasted not only throughout the days but evenings as well. The entire time being taken up in instructive lectures and practical work under the supervision and instruction of experienced men direct from the factory. The Practical completion of its main building program by the Hupp Motor Car Corporation marks the final stage in a plan conceived three years ago to bring under its own control every vital process in building Hupmobiles.

The importance of this control is emphasized in a statement made by Charles D. Hastings, president and general manager of the corporation, in a communication received by Bartlett and French, Hupmobile dealers at 111 W. Howard street.

It reads in part: "Today, in our own plants, our own motor, transmission, axles and all other essential parts are built to our own specifications, for the exclusive use of this corporation."

"No compromise of good design or fine manufacture is ever forced upon our engineers. They are entirely free from the limitations they might meet if they were dependent for some vital parts on outside manufacturing sources."

"The Hupmobile has the performance, economy, endurance and long life that it has because there is perfect working harmony among its units. There is this harmony because the proper relation of every part to all others has been worked out by us and is carried out under our own manufacturing supervision."

"Our engine, for instance, is designed and manufactured to work

DEVELOPMENT OF FREIGHT AND PASSENGER LINES

Almost every city, village, and hamlet in the United States can now be reached by motor stage. Union terminals have been developed in the larger cities which have the characteristics of a railway station at an important junction point. Freight shipments are carried daily by motor truck between all important points, providing fast through service as well as local service to the smaller towns along the route.

The use of public highways for carrying freight and passengers over established routes on schedule time cannot rightfully be considered as competition with the railroads. Such lines, to a large extent, create the traffic they carry.—Automobile Digest.

By Albert Marple

In solving the automobile parking problem in Glendale the "city papas" have a real job.

In fact, they have something that will keep them "up nights," now and then, for weeks to come.

Several months ago a 3-hour parking ordinance was adopted. When it went into effect a few Glendaleans and others were arrested and fined "two berries," the writer being "among those present."

That was the first and the last raid staged under that ordinance. The parking situation has been gradually getting worse. The stage it is now in might be termed as critical.

About a week ago the council put into effect a one-hour parking ordinance. This was badly needed. It permits the parking of three times the number of machines in any given location in the same space of time—thereby enabling more motorists to use the streets of the business section for parking purposes. This is as it should be.

But the council has not gone far enough. The streets should now be spaced off by white lines, so that no unnecessary space need be used by the "parking hog." A fine should follow an arrest for failing to keep within the marked spaces. This should be at least $3—possibly $5. The fellow who disregards the rights of others by hogging a space in which two cars could be parked should get a $5 reminder.

The way of the council, along this parking line, is anything but rose. Thursday night some of the merchants on the north side of Broadway between Brand and Central appeared before the council with the complaint that their business is being injured by the parallel parking—that they were being discriminated against by angle parking being permitted on the south side of Broadway and on other streets of the city.

They were informed that this type of parking was put in force on all of the east and west business streets and is for the safety of the public. They contended that either the angle parking be resumed on their side of the street or the parallel parking be established all over the business section of the city.

So there you are. That's what the council has been up against in the parking line for months and will have to face for months to come. Whenever a decision of the council, which acts for the general good, hurts any individual, that person naturally squeals.

Chief of Police Fraser and Fire Chief Langford laid out the present system of parking, and the council adopted the recommendations made by these men, who, before making their suggestions, went into the Glendale traffic matter thoroughly.

The city council must, in justice, hear the complaints arising from their ordinance—then, also, in justice, must act in accordance with the greatest good for the greatest number.

ROAD SIGN FOR EVERY MEMBER

Few motorists realize the big part the friendly sign post plays in making pleasant the motor journeys of visitors in Southern California. The native passes these monitors of the highways with hardly a thought, but to the new comer they are the beacon lights of comfort and safety.

When it was announced some time ago that Southern California highways might boast of a "sign a mile" the news heralded a very definite service. The most active agent in the sign posting is the Automobile Club of Southern California, which has extended its friendly activities through neighboring states to the Mississippi river. This marking of the principal travel lanes has been followed out so completely that now the great service organization for motorists is able to announce that it has placed a highway sign in excess of one for each member. All of which means something when it is considered that the roll call of the auto club has passed the 90,000 mark.

with greatest efficiency and economy with our own transmission and axles. Each of these units like ours are designed and built under our own supervision to supplement and even increase the economy and efficiency of the engine."

PACKARD

There is a deeper significance than at first appears in the general disposition to use the name PACKARD as a synonym for all that is fine in motor cars—especially to describe the quality range from the low to the high.

When people say, "from the ——— to the Packard," as they constantly do, they simply express an unquestioning acceptance of the Packard as the highest possible standard.

Such tribute means more than anything we could say of the Packard; more than any mechanical processes.

Everyone who owns a PACKARD is not only certain of having made the wisest possible motor car investment, but derives sub-consciously, a subtle satisfaction from the fact that his car is recognized and known as the final measure of motoring excellence and social distinction.

FRANCIS W. READ

One of the most difficult points of football for the average spectator to comprehend is the difference between a touchback and a safety, and the false idea that a touchback constitutes a score. Perhaps this is a technicality but the distinction between a touchback and a safety must be thoroughly understood if one is to follow the game intelligently. Much consternation was caused in the Glendale-Covina game yesterday afternoon over the touchback made in the third quarter. There was considerable discussion on the sidelines as to the status of the play and whether it constituted a touchback or a safety. The play was a touchback and therefore there was no score. The reasons for this will be clear after the reader has followed the ensuing discussion on the two plays.

A touchback counts no score. A safety counts two points for the opposing team. A touchback, according to the official rules, "is made when the ball in the possession of a player guarding his own goal is declared dead by the referee, any part of it being on, above or behind the goal line, provided that the impetus which sent it to or across the goal line was given by the side making the touchback."

A safety, according to the same rules, "is made when the ball in possession of a player guarding his own goal is declared dead by the referee, any part of it being above, behind or on the goal line, provided that the impetus that sent it to or across the goal line was given by the side making the safety anywhere on its own 20-yard line."

The reason for this is that when a man is in possession of the ball behind his own goal line with a ball that was sent over by impetus from the opposing team, the opponents have made a misplay to lose possession of the ball, even if it is behind the goal line, and therefore are not entitled to any score. In the case of a safety, the team guarding the goal is necessarily guilty of a misplay if, while the ball is in its possession, it supplies the impetus for putting the ball over its own goal line. In such a situation the other side is clearly entitled to a score and is therefore given two points.

In the game yesterday the ball was in possession of Glendale. A fumble gave Covina possession of the ball behind its own goal line. Obviously Glendale was not entitled to a score. The ball was brought back to the 20-yard line and put in play by Covina, as provided in the rules. If, instead of the ball being in possession of Glendale and Anaheim will meet tomorrow afternoon on the new Anaheim diamond in the second round of play in the new Triple A winter league. After playing a tie last week with the Palms outfit, Glendale is determined to come back and stage a win. With the array of stars on the Glendale team, it looks as though a victory is probable.

This afternoon Mike Donlin, manager of the Glendale team, put his players through a light workout on the new San Fernando road diamond. The park is not quite completed, but nevertheless the boys enjoyed the practice. They looked mighty good in both fielding and batting practice.

According to Frank Kerwin, owner of the Glendale team, the park will be completed by next Sunday. At that time the Glendale team is slated to battle the Shell Oil outfit on the new diamond. Already the grandstand is nearly completed and the workmen are busy planting the sod on the playing field.

A change has been made by the league in the schedule that was published a few days ago. The game between Glendale and San Pedro will be played at Glendale instead of San Pedro, on December 9. The Glendale and Anaheim teams will face each other at 2:30 tomorrow on the Anaheim diamond. The lineup for the Glendale team will not be decided until this evening.

Glendale, it had been in the possession of Covina, and had been taken or sent behind the goal line by an impetus coming from a Covina player, it naturally would have been a misplay or poor play on the part of Covina, and Glendale would have been entitled to a score of two points.

SOUTH PASADENA
DOWNS ALHAMBRA
CITRUS WINNER

South Pasadena High's doughty football team spilled the dope yesterday by trimming Alhambra in the annual grudge fight between the two institutions, 13 to 3, on the South Pasadena field. Alhambra entered the game a 2 to 1 favorite over the Tigers, but was outplayed in all departments of the game throughout.

Alonso Cass, who comes of a long line of football stars of Stanford and California fame, scored all the points for the winners, recovering a fumble for a touchdown, and making two beautiful goals from field. Bauman also played a stellar brand of football.

Coach Sturgess' Citrus Union High eleven won from Monrovia in a Central League game yesterday, 12 to 6. Piper scored a field goal for Citrus in the first period.

BEARS BATTLE
HUSKIES; CARDS
SCRAP VANDALS

BERKELEY, Nov. 17.—California's Golden Bears went into the fray against the Washington Huskies this afternoon determined to retain their place as champions of the west, and hand the Huskies a defeat like that given the U. S. C. Trojans last Saturday.

The boys from Berkeley will put up the fight of their lives as they realize that the fray will decide the representative aggregation from the West on New Year's day. It has been definitely arranged by Les Henry and other officials that the winner of today's headliner will be picked as the representative.

The accuracy with which Jack Witter and Bill Blewett send the oval through the air is expected to be a big issue against the Washington men, but it is apparent that all the accuracy in punting, passing and carrying the ball will be needed to gain ground against the Huskies.

Stanford entertains the University of Idaho this afternoon and will in all probability make a successful day of it. Although the Cards have a much stronger team this year than in former seasons, she will not figure in the New Year's day festivities.

GLENDALE HIGH DEFEATS COVINA 20 TO
0, TAKES CENTRAL LEAGUE PENNANT3000 Spectators See Dynamiters Win From Covina
Eleven; Second Half Spells Victory for Glendale

By FAIRFIELD WILSON

Glendale's heavyweight football squad yesterday won the Central League championship by defeating Covina by a score of 20-0. A crowd of 3000 witnessed the game, which was one of the finest of the season and the routers surely appreciated it. There could have been little doubt of this fact in the mind of anyone who saw the big serpentine heard the noise of the throngs parading on Brand boulevard. The routing sections actually went wild during this game of games. One could hardly imagine with what a volume of noise a couple of thousand loyal rooters could fill the air. The game was a scoreless tie throughout the first half. It didn't look as if anything could be done; both teams were at a standstill. However, in the second half things took a different turn.

The enthusiasm was naturally very much aroused by this inability of either team to make any headway. The rooters from both schools were on their toes when the two 100 per cent teams stepped onto the sawdust in the second half. Glendale received a series of punts ensued which worked the ball to within a few yards of Covina's goal line. But then the Glendallians could not get possession of the ball. After several saw plays, very menacing to Covina's line, the latter tried to punt. The punt was blocked and Brucker fell on the ball for touchdown. Many wondered at this being called six points as the ball never crossed the goal line. This is easily explained as the ball had been set back ten yards on account of the rise in the ground, the ten yard line thus becoming the goal line. H. Elliot converted.

Covina received the kick and tried to use the same trick pass which Alhambra had used, but the Dynamiters knew the play and the man with the ball was downed before he could think of passing it. With this rude shattering of their plans the visitors punted to Glendale's 40-yard line. From here

Ryan broke from the pack, ran the intervening 60 yards and scored a touchdown. H. Elliot converted this time, also. The Covina lads received again and really made 10 yards on trick play. They then tried it again, but Les Lavelle intercepted this on Covina's 40-yard line just as the whistle blew for the quarter. During the first few minutes of play of the next period Walton ran 35 yards for a touchdown. Either Elliot thought the score was high enough or he was so elated over the victory that his kick was inaccurate. At any rate he missed the kick and when the final whistle blew the count stood 20-0.

Yes, this means that the Dynamiters hold first place in the Central league, that they haven't been scored on and don't expect to be. Some time in the near future the Glendallians will enter the playoff for the championship of Southern California.

The line-up:

THE AFTERMATH

As I was ambling sedately hotelward last evening about 5:15, I heard the remote sounds of a band, and intermingled with its musical

CUB GRIDDERS
BATTLE TIGERS
THIS AFTERNOON

With both teams smarting from their defeats on Armistice day, and fighting mad as a consequence, the Cub Varsity and Occidental College football squads meet in their annual tilt on Patterson Field this afternoon following the game between the Frosh of the two institutions.

Because of the fact that this tilt is the only football game of the Southern California conference for today, and since the U. S. C. Arizona game does not promise to be very exciting, a big crowd was on hand.

They lined up as follows:

strains were the sounds of wild hilarity. I stopped, I was compelled to, for the mob was such that it was impossible for me to even snail-pace through it. It was better to stop, anyway, for it saved me the indignity of having my face and neck tickled with numerous pay feather dusters.

I saw what, at first glance to my intelligently observing eyes appeared to be a many-footed centipede serpentine down the "great white way" of Glendale. But it wasn't! It was in reality a triumphal march, celebrating the victory of Glendale High over Covina High in their great football game.

I was so enthusiastic that I wanted to shout wildly, too; but oh, isn't it awful to be elderly and grown up? Anyway I grinned loudly and showed all my teeth, what few I have left. I wouldn't have minded them one bit if I had been tickled with a feather duster, especially by one held in the hand of a sweet young thing.

The yell-leader was so hoarse that he could scarcely lead his gang; but what his vocal organs lacked he made up in vague enthusiasm and his bunch responded with all the lustiness of a roomful of squalling infants.

And the one who was the cause of all this wild cheering, the one who was enjoying his ride high up on the shoulders of his comrades,

SENIORS DEFEAT
FRESHMEN 13-4White Surprised Fans By Defeating Laird
6-3, 6-3

With a 13-4 score the senior tennis team of Glendale High school outstroked and out-played the freshman team last Wednesday afternoon. The game was completely overcast when Lewellyn White captured the first man singles from Bob Laird with a score of 6-3, 6-3.

A great deal of material was uncovered in the tournament. With three more years to play in G. U. H. S. the men on the freshman team should be well developed before they graduate.

White showed his good strokes and speed by defeating Bob Laird. The match was a surprise to all tennis fans. Lewellyn will have a good place on the school team according to present indications.

Tommy Woods took his match from Sunderland, 6-2, 6-3. Sunderland put up a good game by Tommy's net playing and placing bothered him a great deal.

Finch lost to Garner with a 3-6, 6-2, 6-6 score. In the second set Garner fell down, letting Finch place the shots past him. The third set was played Thursday for it was too dark to play Wednesday afternoon. Garner worked hard and captured a love set.

In the fourth singles Scoville won from Halstead in two sets, 6-1, 8-6. The first set was easily Scoville's but in the second set Halstead had the first five games and point set, but Scoville settled down and pulled out of the hole, taking five games straight.

HAWAII GRIDDERS
WILL ARRIVE
NEXT WEEKIslanders En Route Here for Game With Pomona

The University of Hawaii football team, which is to play Pomona college at Pasadena Thanksgiving day, will arrive in San Francisco next Tuesday on the Matsonia. Coach Otto Klum and 13 of his stalwart lads from the land of leis and surf riders will come direct to Los Angeles and will then be whisked out to Claremont, where they are to be guests of the college during their two weeks' stay here.

From all advance reports, the game should be a corker. Last year Pomona journeyed to the islands and met the Deans in a Christmas day game. The result was a 25 to 6 victory for the brown boys, and Coach Eugene Nixon and his charges have since been aching for a chance to redeem themselves. Although the score was only 7 to 6 against them at the end of the half, the Sagehens tired rapidly in the second session and two bad breaks accounted for the defeat.

The Hawaiian team is a most colorful aggregation. Although most of the players are native born islanders, the population of Honolulu, where the University is situated, is so cosmopolitan as to make the personnel of the team a veritable melting pot. A Japanese, a Chinese, a half-negro and several other interesting combinations are found on the squad.

Pomona, five times champions of the Southern conference in the past seven years, must defeat Occidental at Claremont the 24th in order to retain the first honors won last season.

TROJANS TAKE ON WILDCATS

Coach Fred McKale and his cast-tusled athletes from the University of Arizona will attempt to prove that the wild and woolly state raises men as hard as they look today, when the Wildcats take on T. S. C. at the Coliseum. The tilt is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock, and although it is nothing more than a second-rate battle, fans will do well to wander out for the Arizona clubs always have a monopoly on fight when they get into action.

PATRONS, NOTE:

Patrons will recall that for some days past "The Extra Girl" was the attraction advertised for the change beginning tomorrow, November 18. "The Spanish Dancer" was advertised for a later date. However, realizing Glendale's desire for the earliest possible showing of the Negri, the management was able, through the vast buying power of the T. D. & L. and West Coast Theatres, Inc. circuit, to advance the date of "The Spanish Dancer" to the tomorrow change. "The Extra Girl" will play a two days' engagement beginning next Friday, November 23. Thank you.

GOOD MORNING!

Good morning!
Here is day again and dawn;
The darkness ended and the night now gone;
Sun in the heavens and a song of birds,
And beauty everywhere too great for words.
Glad greetings, nodding flowers, the drops of dew
Upon the grass and tasks again to do.
So let us to the task with spirits high,
Strong, glad and eager underneath the sky.
Good morning!

Good morning!
Here is every glory set
In earth and sea and sky that ever yet
Made strong the souls of men and high and glad;
Thou hast the every treasure thou hast had;
There is no loss; today has every thing
Thy spirit needs; there is a song to sing.
A flower to pluck; a hand to clasp; a seed
To sow and glory in a noble deed.
Good morning!

Good morning!
How the world is new and fair!
Blue in the sky, dew on the grass, the air
Fresh with the scent of flowers and a song
If we but choose to hear, the whole day long.
The shadows of the yesterday are gone
Before the glow and radiance of the dawn;
The world is thine and mine; and it is good
For love and life and toil and gratitude.
Good morning!

AT THE THEATERS

BIG, SHY JACK HOXIE
COMES TODAY TO THE GLENDAL

Jack Hoxie is a big, good-natured lad who, despite his success as a screen star, is still shy of women. Added to that feature of his personality is an aversion to being called a "movie star." So when a flock of pretty girls stopped him one day on the beach, Jack looked mournful and ill at ease. "Aren't you a 'movie star'?" cooed a blonde. "Why, nope, mam, I ain't. I'm just Jack Hoxie, a cowpuncher trying to earn a living in pictures. They had to get somebody big enough to lick the villain without making it look funny, so they made me a hero."

The Universal western star's latest appearance, showing today only at the Glendale theatre, "Men in the Raw," is a screen version of the popular magazine story of the same name by W. Bert Foster.

Billie Dove was a Ziegfeld Follies beauty before divorcing the stage for the screen. For the first time in her picture work her theatrical grace is seen as she appears in her mystifying role of "The Masked Dancer" opposite Tom Mix in his new William Fox production, "Soft Boiled," which comes to the Glendale theatre on Sunday.

The scene of her solo dance takes place in a roadhouse, which is run by Tom Mix, in his role of Tom Steele. Tom has to run this place for six months without losing his temper or fighting in order to win the fortune willed him by his uncle.

What a miserable crowd of pessimists we would be if we could see ourselves as others see us.

HEAVY PAYMENT MADE TO VICTIMS OF ODD HAZARDS

[By Associated Press]

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 17.—Splinters, small as they are, have a high financial standing with the insurance companies. A sliver, it seems, has a mean way of becoming an accident, especially when it makes the right kind of connection with an insured anatomy. A report on accident claims, just made public by the Aetna Life Insurance company, shows that during a period of 12 months 121 persons were paid a total of $12,088 by this company as consolation for catenating with slivers.

A further study of the report, which includes an analysis of more than 10,000 accident claims, discloses that 21 persons were paid $3,380 for getting out of bed the wrong way. Then from the remaining multitude who got up safely and reached the bath room, 29 victims skidded on the soap and were planted so forcefully in the tub that $5,750 was distributed among them as compensation for the early morning burst of speed.

In most cases, the next hazard of the day started when the stairs were reached. A too rapid descent in the case of 369 persons was charged against the company to the extent of $34,596. The inoffensive rug was another ever-present danger. As a result of 505 persons being thrown to the floor by insecure rugs, the sum of $44,857 was distributed from the company's treasury.

Airplanes were responsible for but two claims. One pilot received $30.71 for a slight injury sustained while cranking his motor, and a passenger was paid $47.50 for a bump received when a plane "lurched." The automobile drivers, however, were not so lucky, for 396 persons collected more than $50,000 for injuries suffered in "turning her over."

Birds, animals and insects, according to the report, became affectionate with 113 insured persons, who were paid $7,947 for "bites." Tight clothing and shoes chafed 123 persons, who were paid a total of $13,745 for their injuries.

Hunters, golfers and automobiles made up most of the 56 victims who collected $2,806 as a result of coming in contact with poison plants and shrubbery. These also were the heaviest sufferers from foreign particles in the eyes, which brought claim checks to 209 persons. Burns caused by matches and cigar lighters were reported by 35 persons, who were paid $795. Collision insurance was paid during the period to 5 dancers and 20 gymnasts. In each case the injury was received in colliding with another person.

Claims aggregating $17,097 were paid to 215 baseball players, the report shows. Seventy players were injured in collisions with "flying or falling objects," and 75 others in sliding to base. Collisions with "flying or falling objects" on the golf course injured 16 players, while 9 others received monetary compensation for falling into "ditches, trenches or other excavations."

GLENDALE HEIGHTS EXTENSION MAKES BOW TO GLENDALIANS

FOOTHILL TRACT OF 65 VIEW LOTS, EACH ONE A JEWEL, IS AVAILABLE

All of the Lots in That Wonderful Subdivision Are So Desirable That It Is Hard to Center on Any One Particular Location

WORK ON OAKMONT CLUB BEING RUSHED

Original Prices Placed on the Homesites in This Tract Prevail, Although All Could Be Raised and Sale of Lots Would Continue

Of unusual interest to the residents of Glendale and surrounding territory is the pre-opening sale of the beautiful piece of hillside property located just south of Glendale Heights. The hills of this property are among the most wonderful in this section of the country. They command a view of miles and miles in all directions—from "Old Baldy" on the east to the Pacific ocean on the west and from Burbank and the country beyond to the north to the thriving city of Los Angeles and the flat country beyond on the south. Nothing could be more wonderful than the marvelous array of view that are obtainable from this subdivision. Every piece of property is what may be truthfully to be termed a "view lot."

This pre-opening sale is being held for the benefit of the people of Glendale—to give them a chance to select the sites they desire in this tract before those of the outside country are invited in.

To those who know the rapidity with which Glendale Heights sold, this should mean something. That mammoth subdivision, consisting of several hundred lots, sold almost over night.

That is just what the lots in Glendale Heights Extension will go, and those who are expecting to secure homesites in that tract will have to get on the job without delay.

The lots in this tract are priced at from $1,000 up, but there are a few homesites, and mighty good ones, too, that are to be sold at $500. These are on the hillside bordering one of the scenic roads of the tract.

A wonderful system of roads is being cut in this tract. They wind around through the tract, gracefully rising on easy grades to the very uppermost site in the subdivision. Practically all of the grades on this tract can be made in "high" with the average car.

Here are four interesting points concerning this tract:

1. But twenty minutes easy riding by auto to Los Angeles business district—closer by a third than the heart of Hollywood.

2. Convenient to a 5c street car fare to Los Angeles. P. E. buses with transfer privileges to street car service, run near by.

3. Above the fog. Subject to the cooling ocean breezes in summer and its tempering effects in winter.

4. These verdant hills command an inspiring view of Glendale and the San Fernando Valley, Pasadena, Eagle Rock, a part of the Los Angeles business district and even a glimpse of the ocean on a clear day.

It is an interesting fact that the opening prices on the tract were not determined upon by the subdividers until the day before the public was notified of the prospective sale of the property and that within three minutes after Mr. W. L. Truitt, from whom the acres were purchased, had seen the prices at which the lots were to be offered to the people of Glendale, reserved a lot for himself.

To those residing here but whose business is conducted in Los Angeles, this location should have a particular appeal as it is on the shortest and most direct route to the heart of the city via the Verdugo and San Fernando Roads.

This tract has been developed by men who have been active in the development of one of the best known subdivisions in the United States and all the knowledge gained from their years of experience have been applied to the artistic development to which the ground lends itself most naturally.

Because of the limited number of lots offered and the unusually attractiveness of this commanding location, it was felt that the first advantage should be given to Glendalians to reserve for themselves lots as good as the city afforded at very reasonable prices. Consistent with that idea, Sunday is particularly set as Glendale's day—a day for the "home town" people.

This subdivision should be a speculator's big chance because of the extremely low prices at which this subdivision is opened but particular care has been taken that the announcement of prices should

MUST PREPARE FOR COMING WINTER

The first cool days of autumn always bring to the mind of the home-maker the thought of transforming her cool summer treatment to that of an atmosphere of warm comfortableness for winter.

So much of the summer is spent away from home, or on the porches or in the garden that generally speaking the wise housewife will wait until the fall of the year for any home decoration.

With systematic care each room should be studied that it be brought up to a standard reflecting comfort, utility and beauty.

Some rooms will be found to need new wall coverings; others, carpets or rugs.

The slip covers so useful during the summer will be folded away, allowing us to again enjoy the lovely textures on our upholstered furniture.

Of course we want to replace the light-weight draperies of summer with the warmer velvet, damask, silk or satin ones that we so enjoy throughout the winter season.

We are almost certain to find that in this day of many individual tables we need another end table, a coffee table, and one especially made for Mah Jongg, possibly a nest of tables that are so convenient for smoking or afternoon tea or coffee.

Then when we consider our lamps and flower bowls, we invariably find that a pair of torcheres and a lamp or two will add much to the cheer of the living room and hall, and that this or that nook just needs a bowl of flowers to brighten it up.

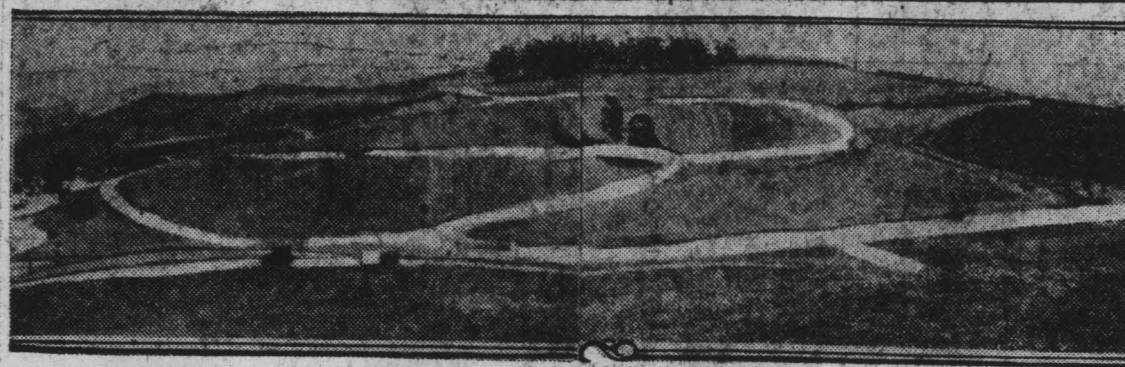

Somehow, we never realized the comfort of stools and a fireside bench until our attention was drawn to it a few days ago, and now that the fireside chair has a stool and the bench has been placed, we wonder how we could have been comfortable without them.

There are so many charming chests today that we find that one is very useful in the hall, library or living room—say, for our piano records or magazines that we wish to file, or possibly to put away some rare textiles or pottery that we only wish to bring forth on occasion.

Let our home sound the note of a personal tone. A treasure of love manifest that's our own.

A stair railing, a standard for a bird cage or a side table with wrought iron supports will give this pleasing note of variety in materials.

COURSE IN REAL ESTATE BEING PREPARED

When a branch of American business having to deal with an economic factor amounting to one hundred forty six billions of dollars, the largest single factor in American economic life, takes upon itself, in conjunction with leaders of American education in colleges and universities as well as in schools of commerce, the task of setting up for itself an educational curriculum for men in the business and young men entering the business, the step is of considerable significance both in modern educational development and in modern business development. Setting up of such a standard has just been accomplished by the National Association of Real Estate Boards at a nationwide conference between business leaders and educational heads just closed at Madison.

Deans of American colleges and universities, heads of the United Y. M. C. A. schools, representatives of the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities and officers and leaders of the National Association of Real Estate Boards took part in the discussion. The conference accomplished these things:

1. Adopted for recommendation to schools of commerce and vocational courses nationally a two-year course in real estate education along strictly vocational lines but comprehensive in content.

2. Agreed upon the suitability for inclusion in college curricula of courses in real estate and allied subjects sufficient to constitute a college major in real estate.

Two Year Curriculum to Furnish

Practical Training

As agreed upon by the conference the curriculum which the National Association of Real Estate Boards will recommend as a standard two-year course is as follows:

First Year: First Semester, Real Estate Practice; Real Estate Law; Business Economics. Second Semester: Real Estate Selling; Real Estate Transfers and Conveyances; Real Estate Finance.

Second Year: First Semester, Building Construction and Design; Principles of Land Economics; Real Estate Office Organization and Management. Second Semester, Property Management; Real Estate Valuations and Appraisals; an elective to be chosen from the following group: Business Law, City Planning, Problems in Appraising, Fundamentals of Salesmanship, Fundamentals of Advertising, Business Psychology, Corporation Law, Property Insurance, Practical Speaking, Business Letters and Reports, Elements of Finance, Business Organization and Executive Training.

Suggestions for College Courses Give Broad Economic View

Suggested phases of study for colleges include in addition to the subjects already listed courses in public utilities, in taxation, in statistical method and, as electives, studies in the law of agency and contracts, forecasting, the course to be a laboratory study in business statistics, architecture, its history and appreciation, and advanced land economics.

Training in economics, sociology, history, political science, mathematics and the law are not extraneous to a real estate education but are the very essentials of it, representatives of the National Association hold.

Interesting Samples of Spanish Plaster

The environs of Glendale contain many interesting examples of plaster in old Spanish houses. The work was probably done by Indian laborers, who little suspected that their work would be sought out and carefully studied by architects in an effort to equal the beautiful textures they had unwittingly obtained.

Two such places which would richly repay the trouble of a visit are the Adobe Flores below the Raymond Hotel, in Pasadena, and the Casa Flores house on De La Guerra street, in Santa Barbara. The latter house, to digress a moment, was the birthplace of the first white child in California.

Plasters have a modern name for these textures other than the traditional "sand coat" or "putty coat."

They call them "jazz finishes." Indeed some of them fit the name, for in untrained hands they become forced and often look, on the walls, like a violent case of measles or freckles.

Many houses otherwise successful

Is there a deeper reason for the crusade of hundreds and thousands, from all corners of the world, to Southern California; a cycle of psychological influence which is causing phases of development that cannot be explained by previous experience in history?

WROUGHT IRON IS IMPORTANT ITEM

Wrought iron as a part of the interior decoration scheme has always played an important role.

Whole books have been devoted to this one subject and are always considered an important part of the architect's library.

It is sad, but true, that the finest wrought iron being produced today is done by foreign trained smiths. We are fortunate that these skilled men have chosen to live here instead of in Austria or Italy or France, whence they have come.

Their work has added immeasurably to the effectiveness of interiors in Latin styles.

The draftsmen call this spark "pep." It is well named.

REAL CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR RESIDENTS OF THE COUNTRY TO THE NORTH

By ART SHERBORNE

The Southern California Gas company will play Santa Claus this year to many of the families in the up-country who, in anticipation, are preparing to celebrate a real Thanksgiving.

The announcement that a large number of homes in Montrose and La Crescenta will have gas service before the end of next month has been made by S. C. Singer, district manager for the Southern California Gas company.

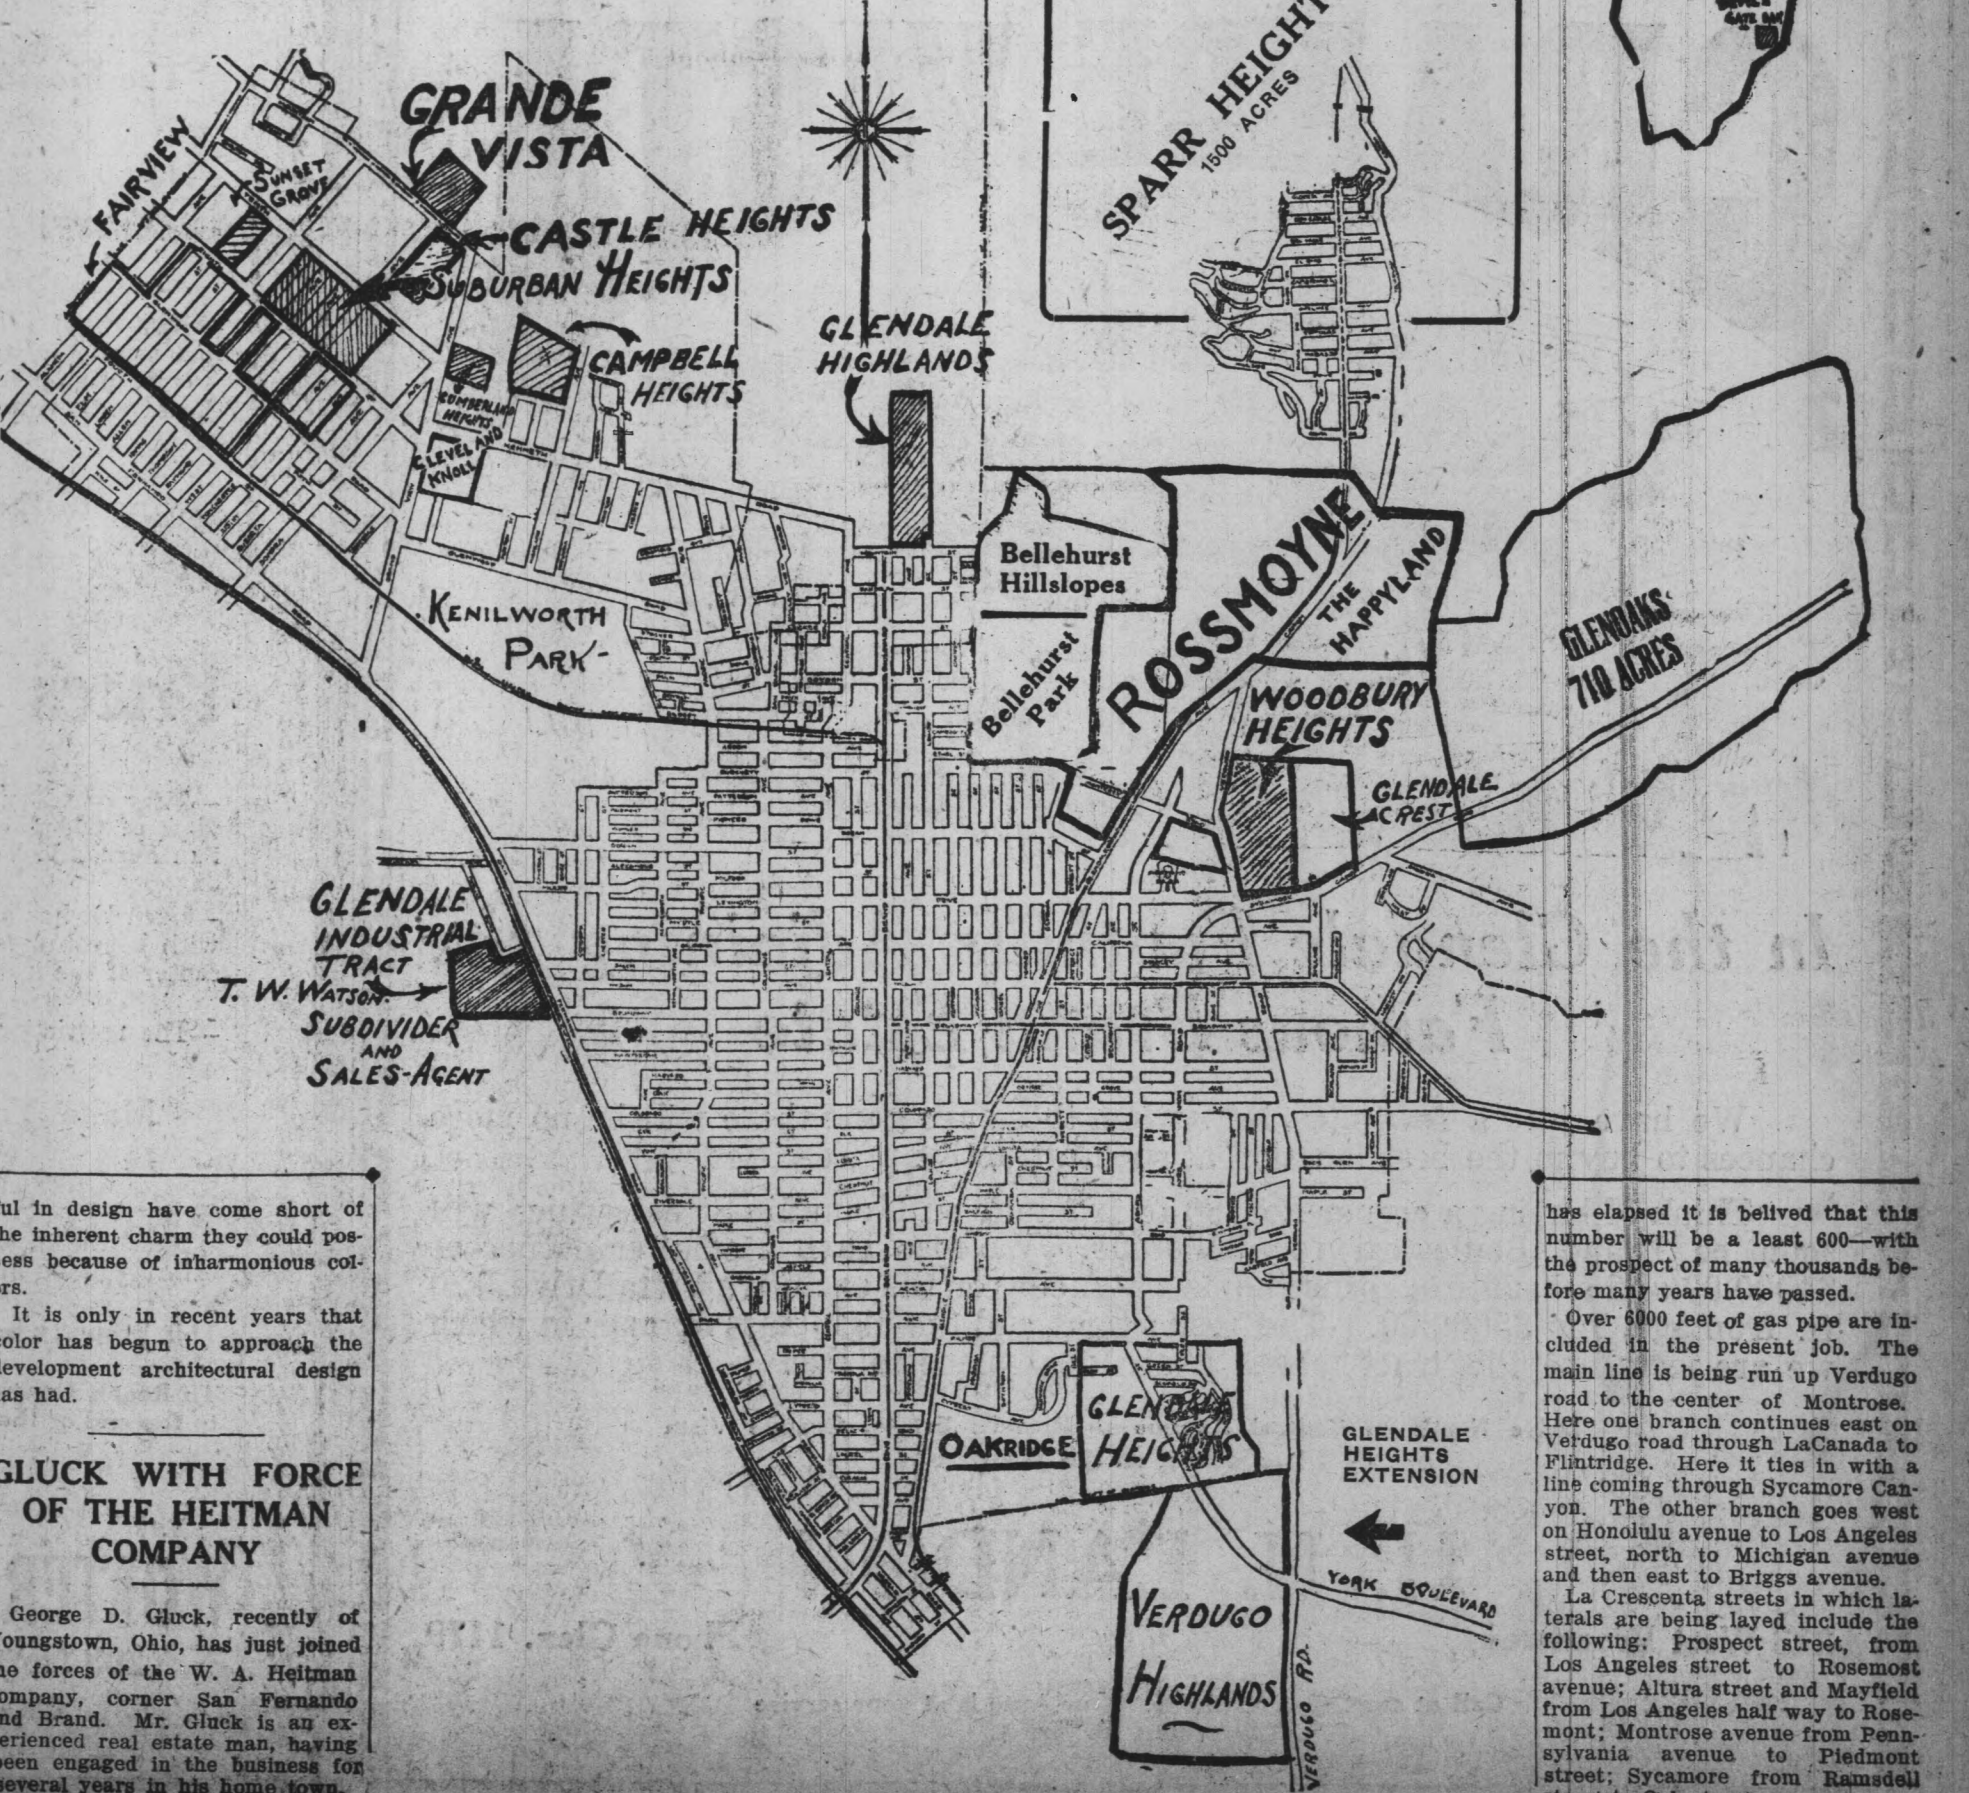

Main lines have been laid already in Montrose and two gangs of men numbering about 100 altogether, are now busy laying the laterals. Home-owners are co-operating in the making of the necessary house connections.

The reason Thanksgiving comes so late in the month this year is believed to be in order that housewives of Montrose may cook their turkeys by gas.

La Crescenta will be given service just as soon after Montrose as possible. It is believed that a majority of residents in this district will be able to use gas to cook their dinners Christmas.

About 400 families now live in this territory. Before another year

CONCRETE STREETS WILL BE PART OF ROSSMOYNE, THE WONDER HOME TRACT

In This Charming Subdivision There Will Be 15 Miles of Concrete Paving to Cost $350,000; Electroliner System Will Also Be Feature

EVERY IMPROVEMENT IS BEING INSTALLED

Work in Unit No. 1 Is Complete and in Unit 2 Operations Are Being Rushed; One New Home Is Being Started Daily; Many Are Planned

Concrete streets, the finest to be laid in any tract in this section of the country, are being installed in the unsurpassed Rossmoyne tract, the picturesque Glendale home subdivision that is owned and is being subdivided by the Haddock-Nibley company.

Does this mean anything to you, Mr. Lot Buyer? Can you not see that with streets of this character before the lots you buy it will be years and years before you are called upon to pay one penny out for additional street work? A great many of the tracts laid out have had streets that were made to sell the lots—not to be used. Within a few years after the lots were sold, the streets were worn out and the property owners were called upon to pay for more street work.

It will not be so in the Rossmoyne tract. The streets that are being laid are of the highest type. They are being laid for "keep." There will be nothing in the way of "come backs" in the course of a year or so. The owners of this property have taken a pride in their property and they delight in laying the best type of streets possible. They want them to stand up so that the name and reputation of their wonder tract may not be tarnished.

"So far as we know this is the first tract in Glendale to have concrete streets," said Mr. Haddock. "We intend to make all of these streets five inches of concrete, constituting the strongest roads in any tract in this valley."

"In addition to these beautiful and durable streets, we are going to install an electroliner system that will be second to none in this part of the country."

"In this tract there will be about fifteen miles of streets. In the first unit there are 281,757 feet of street, while in the second unit there are 418,776 feet of roads. The improvement of streets in this tract will cost about $350,000."

"Sales in this tract are averaging about $5000 per day. About one million dollars worth of lots have already been sold. Seven homes are in course of construction at this time and within thirty days I expect that a new home will be started on the tract every day."

CRESTVIEW MANOR LOTS SELLING RAPIDLY

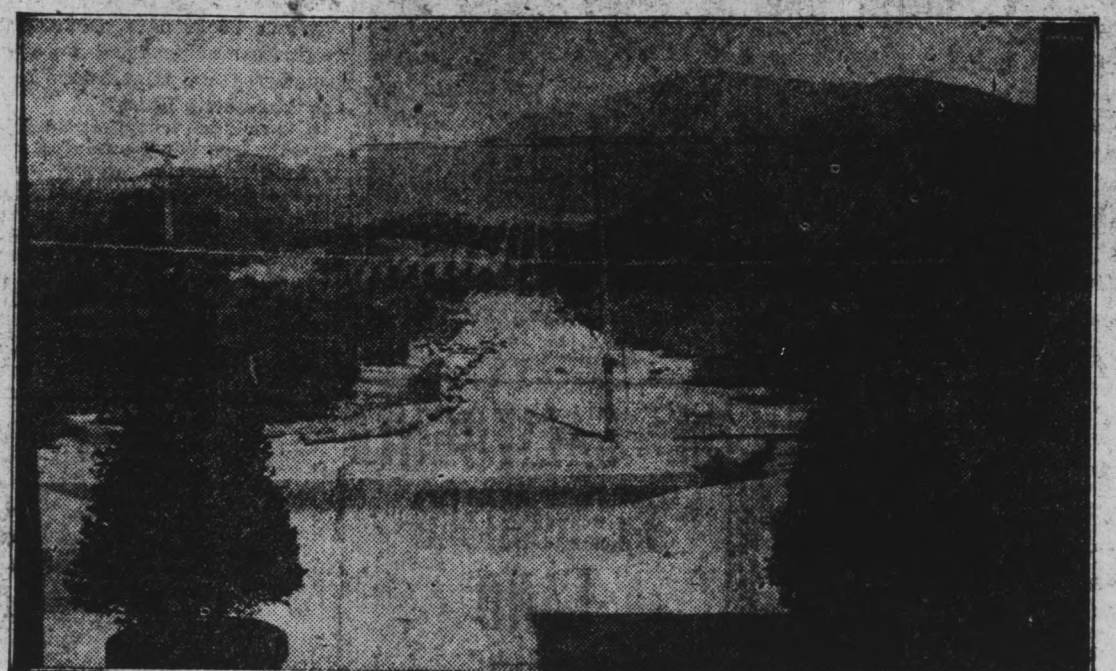

The sale of the wonder view homesites of the Crestview Manor is by far exceeding the fondest hopes of Mr. Wolter of the Wolter Realty company, 203 North Brand boulevard, according to a statement issued from that office this morning. The opening announcements of this tract last week brought forth an unusually generous response, as a result of which several important sales were made.

There were only thirty-seven lots in this charming tract at the opening and with a number of these already sold it goes without saying that those wishing to secure sites in this tract will have to hurry.

The prices of lots in this tract range from $2,900 to $8,250, and all of them are sold on very easy terms. They overlook the entire Kenneth Road District—each commands a wonderful panoramic view of Glendale to the Southeast; Griffith Park to the Southwest; a view

Each lot has a generous frontage of from 60 to 200 feet; has a high elevation; is covered with beautiful flowers, and Mountain Street, a scenic drive of rare charm, runs through the center of the tract.

The restrictions of $10,000 and up guarantee homes of rare architectural beauty.

Many have motored by the pretentious Brand Castle and grounds—nestled high up in the Verdugo Foothills—and said to themselves, "What a beautiful setting for a home—however, what's the use of wishing—only a millionaire could afford a home in such a place as this."

SYCAMORE GLEN UNIT NO. 2 OPEN

The Pre-opening sale of Unit No. 2 of Sycamore Glen, that beautiful home tract located in the charming Sycamore Canyon, will be held on Sunday and Monday, November 18 and 19.

There are 115 lots in this unit, all of them situated close to the Sycamore Canyon drive, which will soon be a main thoroughfare from Glendale to Flintridge.

Lots in Unit 1 of this tract, which was placed on the market just a few days ago, have all been sold and already the prices of these initial unit lots have advanced in price.

"This property will positively advance in price and value," said R. A. Luring, subdivider with offices at 2732 Glendale boulevard, "Location, if nothing else, will turn this tract. Never again will the local property buyer have a chance to get lots in this beautiful canyon at opening prices."

"Unusually beautiful and substantial improvements, such as water, gas, electricity, sidewalks, curbing and street work are included in the prices of the lots, which are as reasonable as in any of the subdivisions in this section."

"Every lot in this tract has a view and an environment all its own. It is a suitable location for a charming home, many of which will be started on this property within the next few weeks."

"These lots cannot last long at the prices that are being asked for them and for this reason we would suggest that those contemplating securing homesites should see these at once."

Mr. Luring is the man who made short work of selling out the beautiful Ivanhoe Hills tract, in the sale of which a real record was made.

"GOING SOME"

Some day California will have a population of 25,000,000 or more, says Roger Babson, the statistician.

Pretty Dwellings Being Constructed

E. Z. Zenke, owner of a chain of shoe repair shops along the coast, is the owner of a handsome home being built at the corner of Cumberland Way and Pacific avenue that is to cost $30,000. It is to be completed in sixty days.

Construction has been started on a $15,000 home for Philip W. Parker at Montgomery street and Kenneth road.

THE PEREWINKLE

One of the handsomest bedding annuals and one of the most satisfactory in general effect is the Madagascar periwinkle or Vinca rosea, a dual-purpose plant. Seed sown as soon as the ground is warm will give a crop of plants for summer bedding and then they may be lifted to bloom all winter in the house.

This old-fashioned plant has shining, dark green, laurel-like foliage, making a fine bushy plant about a foot tall which is thickly studded all summer with white, rose, and white with a crimson-eye flower. It is ornamental both in foliage and flower. Sown now, it will be valuable to plant in beds occupied by late tulips or other spring bulbs as it may be transplanted as the bulb leaves fade and soon fill the bed.

The seed is rather slow in germination but makes a rapid growth once it gets a start. The individual flowers resemble somewhat the bloom of the Phlox Drummondii but do not grow in clusters as does the phlox and are larger individually than the flower of the phlox.

There are only the three colors and a bed of one color is more effective than a mixture of the three, although the pure white and the white with the crimson eye mix to better advantage than do the rose-colored forms with the lighter varieties.

This plant is a heat lover and is at its best during the hot days of summer. Its foliage is ornamental aside from its flower, but with the glossy, dark green leaves as a foil, the flowers are well displayed. It is valuable to cut as the buds unfold in water.

This is an old-fashioned plant often known in old gardens as

EAST SIDE LOTS ARE MUCH IN DEMAND

Unusual activity is being experienced in the sale of realty in Woodbury Heights, that charming subdivision located on Verdugo road just north of Sycamore Canyon boulevard. Since the opening of this tract several weeks ago the demand for the homesites there has been slowly growing. Gradually the people of Glendale and the surrounding country have awakened to the value of the homesites in this tract. This accounts, in a great measure, for the increased demand for Woodbury Heights lots, thirty having already been sold.

Regarding the lots in this tract T. W. Watson of the T. W. Watson company, 708 East Broadway, says: "We have a number of attractive close-in hillside building sites on the Verdugo road frontage of Woodbury Heights. These have oak trees on them and are extremely desirable. They are immediately available for building purposes, inasmuch as the street improvements are all in. These lots have 60-foot frontage and stand well on the side hill."

Bids for the street work in this property have been received and the contract will be let early next week. It is expected that this work will be under way by the middle of the latter part of next week.

The Wilson avenue branch of the Glendale-Montrose electric line, which will soon run to Los Angeles, is just one block from Woodbury Heights.

"Old Maid." It is a relative of the trailing vinca, the variegated leaves of which are so commonly used in porch boxes, and of the periwinkle or grave myrtle, a hardy ground-covering vine with bright blue blossoms in early spring. The plants should be set a foot apart each way in a bed.

LATIN INFLUENCE ON SO. CALIF. HOMES

Southern California is slowly, yet certainly, adopting as its architectural inspiration the precedents of the Latin countries.

But when we stop to think that the plains of Lombardy, Piedmont and Veneto suggest as much to us as does let us say Mexico, it seems much more appropriate to refer to the Latin influence.

There is an idea common to the minds of the average Southern California home builder that plastered exterior walls and perhaps a bit of the tile roofing will make a house Italian or Spanish.

Nothing could be more untrue. This pernicious breed of bastard architecture has been wished on thousands of unsuspecting home purchasers by speculative builders, blessed with a five-year roof guarantee and an ample supply of Spanish or Italian "style."

If the prospective purchaser inquired regarding the "why" of the particular architectural style guaranteed, the seller would probably point, with great condescension to the little dabs of cheap tile that crenellated, as it were the parapets, and of course, to the plastered outside.

Now, it would be just as justifiable to call an Igorot a Frenchman were the former to grow a goatee and dabble over his shiny black limbs with whitewash.

Art becomes an only from the hands of an artist, but the speculative builder is usually interested in one thing only—profit.

Flat roofs are ordinarily cheapest, and hence he hails them with great glee.

Now a trained hand can handle a flat-roofed building in a very interesting manner, and a flat roof may be made a perfectly good roof. But the speculative builder isn't an artist—other, perhaps, than in the fine art of salesmanship, any more than is the carpenter who "designs" Spanish homes.

For the carpenter can slide a pencil around a tee square true, and so can he plunge a knife into flesh with more or less dexterity.

Therefore, he can become either architect or surgeon.

As for the house or the body, it will either live or die.

Where the rub comes is that a dead house is never buried.

Why is it that so many builders of small homes feel that they can economize by eliminating the architect?

They would not, perhaps, try to plaster or wire their own homes, yet the task of getting real character into a building, the task of making it truly artistic, requires incomparably far more training than does either of the trades just named.

Architectural character is an extremely difficult thing to describe, even in the most general terms.

Architecturally speaking, a building "is" or "isn't," and the Latin styles are more exacting in this respect than any other.

Real character in a home is only achieved after an exhaustive study involving the elements which to the carpenter or speculative builder are repulsive, silly.

For example, the pitch of the roof, the profile of the moldings, the relation of the wall openings to general masses, the texture of the walls—probably the most abused part of the small house—the depth of the window reveals, the roof overhang, and above all the color—these are but few of the elements that contribute toward the creation of architectural character, yet probably were not given a moment's thought in the design of half of the small homes in Los Angeles.

The past four or five years have seen several very charming books published on the small house and minor chateau of Latin countries, particularly northern Italy. The untrained eye would perhaps see no charm in the weather-stained walls and moss-covered tiles of some of these old dwellings.

Curing your Golf Troubles
By Jim Barnes

Dear Mr. Barnes:
Will you be good enough to give me some advice on the following matter. At the top of my swing for a full stroke, I have a feeling of being cramped unless I loosen my grip to some extent. I am told that this is likely to lead to loss of control of the club. Under the circumstances, what would you advise? What is the probable cause for the feeling of being cramped?
P. H.

I don't know that I understand just what you refer to as being cramped. It may be that you are bending your left arm at the elbow too much and so getting the hands too close in to the body at the top of the swing. Again your feeling may be due to the fact in trying to keep your left arm fairly straight, you are not pivoting enough, so that there is too strong a pull on this arm.

If the first case is correct, your trouble is no doubt due to your lifting the club up too much on the backswing, instead of swinging it back close to the ground at the start. You should keep the left arm as nearly straight as you can, and at the top of the swing, the hands should be about level with the shoulder and some six inches in front of it.

If the second case is what is causing your trouble, you are failing to turn the body and shoulder far enough around toward the right on the backswing. Quite possibly this is where you are at fault. Bear in mind that for a full swing, you are looking at the ball practically over the point of the left shoulder.

To do this, the left hand must rise somewhat from the ground, while the left knee bends in partly toward the right and partly toward the ball. This will relieve a feeling of having too much pull on the left arm at the shoulder.

Their effort has had immediate effect upon the work of Southern California architecture. Many of the charming small houses from Santa Barbara to San Diego would find a counterpart in more humble surroundings on the banks of the placid Bretna near Vicenza or on the vineyard covered hills of Piedmont.

The books which would be enjoyed by anyone contemplating a house in the style we are discussing, can be found at the Public Library.

One of these books is by Guy Lowell and is called "More Italian Villas and Farm Houses."

Another is by Austin Whittlesey. The book is called, "The Minor Ecclesiastical, Domestic and Garden Architecture of Southern Spain."

A third book which has found a permanent niche in the libraries of most architects is "Northern Italian Details," by Thomas and Falton.

It will be found that most of the houses illustrated in these books depends almost entirely upon pleasing proportions and a bit of sparingly used ornamental iron or carved stone at the windows or doors.

The passing of time has done the rest of the decorating in a way that no architect can duplicate.

The hand of no speculative builder has been at work here.

These houses were built to live in, not to sell—at a profit.

They have stood for hundreds of years and the passing seasons have treated them kindly.

They are a personification of the stability of the generations of families who have lived in them.

A bride who had bobbed her hair read a fashion item which thoroughly frightened her. Her husband was reading in the library and when she managed to reach him she was shaking visibly. "Why, my dear," he asked, "what is the matter?" "Freddie, do you love me since I bobbed my hair?" "Of course." "But this magazine," whimpered the bride, "says that bobbed hair is rapidly going out of fashion." "It may not know. But what of it?" "Freddie, will you love me if I go out of style?"

SALISBURY MANOR GETS ROYAL 'HAND'

Salisbury Manor was given a "slap bang" welcome last week end. Hundreds of home lovers from all parts of Southern California, flocked to the tract. They went there expecting big things in the way of homesites and land and scenery and everything that goes with them and, to say the least, they were not disappointed. In fact, they went away singing the praises of that remarkable piece of property.

Here are a few of the interesting features that made these visitors marvel and, incidentally, make their initial payments: The improvements will be of the very highest character. The widening of Michigan Ave. to seventy-eight feet. The construction of broad sidewalks, curbs, gutters, paved streets, parkways, set to palms, flowers and ornamental lighting system, all surrounding a beautiful park. All previous efforts will be surpassed in converting this magnificent property into one of the most entrancingly beautiful business and residential show places in Southern California. This magnificent property must at last give way to the miraculous irresistible way of Southern California's progressive development. The O. B. Thomas company, of which Roy N. Clayton, 205 West Broadway, is Glendale representative, has mapped out a dual map. The lots facing Michigan boulevard will be reserved for commercial purposes, providing grocery, meat and other stores, badly needed in this community, for a modern trade center is not conveniently established amid the numerous big estates and residential sections of central La Canada. This commercial section will be called La Canada and, while small and compact, a distinct effort will be made to have the appearance in keeping with the beauty of the natural surroundings.

"You go to your druggist," said the doctor to his patient, "and ask him for some iodohydrargrate of iodine—of potassium, some ankydroglucochloral and some dioxymidoarseno-benzol and I should not be surprised if with those you shall be able to triumph over your loss of memory."

HOME LIKE GOWN IN ACTUAL PLANNING

The same common sense rules which govern the designing of a gown govern the design of the interior of a small home.

If the average woman would spend half the time and thought and energy in studying her prospective home that she spends in considering the selection of materials, the design, color, the style and the endless what-not of her new dress, we would have beautiful homes instead of architectural misfits.

But Mrs. Home-builder consults the neighborhood carpenter and forces upon him an architectural capacity which ordinarily the latter does not relish, but accepts to get the building job.

Now this home-builder would not expect the sales clerk who sells the materials that are put into her gown to design that gown, nor would she expect such a service from the seamstress who sews it together.

For she realizes that gowns have personalities—that one which looks well on her next-door neighbor does not necessarily look well on her, that to get the best results she must consult with her gown designer, and get ideas as well as give them.

Now this very same person will time and again go to the carpenter to get her house "designed."

How is the average carpenter who hammers and saws year in and out, and thinks in terms of 2x4s and casement butts, to be expected to be sensitive to the subtleties that create in a home a truly artistic atmosphere?

And again this same person will let the neighborhood house painter "decorate" her home.

Yet most house painters, like the carpenter, are essentially mechanics, and their work to them is a trade.

A painter has about as much ability to "decorate" a home as the average automobile mechanic would have to design the mechanism of an automobile.

It is this confusion of ideas that lack of understanding of the legitimate functions of the numerous trades that are made use of in the building of a house, that literally messes up the interior of most small Glendale homes.

There are men who spend years in studying and traveling preparing themselves to design homes, just as there are men who do the same thing preparing themselves to decorate homes.

How can the home carpenter and the house painter, who must of necessity spend the majority of his time in the actual execution of the work, be expected to compete with these trained experts who do nothing but design and plan it?

The safest axiom to follow in the design of an interior is to keep it simple.

There are, of course, certain characteristics pertinent to every style of architecture, but here where all are interested primarily in the Latin influence, simplicity ordinarily is the discriminating attitude which separates good from bad.

For in the Latin style woodwork in the building proper is limited practically to narrow bands around the openings.

Massive paneled doors are often used with little, if any wood trim about them.

High base boards are out of sympathy with the architectural styles concerned.

If the home is of masonry wood stripping of this nature is often entirely eliminated.

In frame houses it is reduced ordinarily to a narrow two and a half inch band, oftentimes quite plain, and if molded at all, the profiles are extremely simple.

its heavy root system, is a shallow-rooting plant, making the least depth of any of the garden crops. Therefore heavy fertilizing of the surface soil is advisable with commercial fertilizers as well as spading in liberal quantities of stable manure whenever available.

The hills should be two feet apart in rows three to four feet apart and the cornpatch should always be a square or as nearly so as the garden will permit. The square planting will give fuller ears because the corn depends upon the wind to blow the pollen from the tassels upon the silks, without which there will be no kernel formed, each individual silk representing one kernel on the cob.

There should be two or three late plantings of corn because the late plantings are least likely to attacks of the corn worm, a pest that, formerly almost entirely confined to the South, during the last few seasons has become a nuisance in the North and many fine ears are ruined by this disgusting "worm."

Corn, more than any other garden vegetable, needs steady cultivation almost up to the time of bearing, but this cultivation should be shallow—no chopping deep with the hoe as this is likely to injure the shallow but wide-spreading root system. It also needs hilling up to give the auxiliary roots which spring from the lower joints a chance to lodge in the earth and help support the plant.

The earliest corn crops are usually all in by May 15. Later plantings should be made to carry the crop along—smaller plantings and more of them are the best motto for the small garden, using the space of the earliest vegetables for a few hills of late corn.

SUNSET HILLS IS TOUCH OF HEAVEN

SUNSET HILLS is just as near Heaven as one could wish to be. You will realize this when you come up and see this tract for it meets all requirements and conditions.

Sunset Hills has all the advantages and none of the disadvantages. It is located on the slightly knoll west of Brand's Castle and commands the most beautiful panorama in all Southern California—the wondrous San Fernando valley.

From Sunset Hill to the southwest you glimpse the entrancing Griffith Park Hills, where the sun lingers to cast its loving rays in parting benediction; to the north rise the ever-changing, fascinating

Verdugos, with arms sweeping to the east and west holding Sunset Hills in a sheltering embrace and protects it from extremes of heat and cold, for Sunset Hills will average ten degrees cooler in summer and warmer in winter than surrounding locations.

As long as life lasts the dominant instinct is the mighty desire to own a home. A cherry fireside where you may gather your loved ones around you, a place to invite the friends, and the refuge which assures you that peace and contentment when the rush and bustle of life is past.

Sunset Hills will fill all the requirements you demand: locality, Glendale, the finest home town on the Pacific coast; neighborhood, race and building restrictions assure you a high type of neighbors; facilities: grade and high schools near, car and bus service nearby and a cement highway at your door carrying you to church, club or theatre.

Sunset Hills has 60 and 80 foot streets, lots are 60 by 180, street improvements, water, gas, and power to property line and prices from $1600 up. If you want to

ACT NOW TO GET LOT IN GRANDE VISTA

There are just a few more of those wonderful foothills homesites left in Grande Vista, according to an announcement made this morning by H. N. Landon, 213 West Broadway, selling agents for the tract.

So generously have the sites in this tract been received that practically the entire tract has been sold out within a few weeks. There are many things that contributed to this unusual activity—location, scenery, climate, unusual desirability for homesite purposes, and the like.

"We have just a few of these lots left," said Mr. Landon. "Think of buying a corner lot 80 feet wide on Mountain street, which will soon be a real boulevard for $5,000. We also have a small corner for $4,000, and a beautiful corner homesite facing on the exclusive Vista Drive 120 feet frontage for $5,000. The restrictions and the high class manner in which we are installing this tract makes it an ideal place in which to live."

To reach Grande Vista drive north on Central Avenue to Kenneth, west to Grand View to Brand's castle, which adjoins Grande Vista.

DAMAGED

THINGS ARE GOING SOME ON BRAND BOULEVARD

By ALFRED R. JOHNSON
President of the Suburban Realty Co., 1508 South Brand

Glendale's main artery, Brand boulevard, one of the widest and most beautiful boulevards in California, is going ahead with a speed that rivals her reputation as the Fastest Growing City in America. It is forecast that the next twelve months will see South Brand almost a solid mass of buildings from Garfield to Colorado with a great many new buildings filling in the gap from San Fernando to Garfield. Over ten millions of dollars of building projects will be completed or under way on Brand before another twelve months pass. Buildings ranging in size from one to six stories.

From Colorado south some of the improvements which are under way or just completed are a ninety foot store in course of construction, owner, S. Berman, on the southeast corner of Elk and Brand. A one hundred and twenty-five foot, two story building erected for O. A. Lane on the southeast corner of Chestnut; a three story building on the southwest corner of Maple; a one story building on northeast corner Maple being built for the Buick Agency; a one-story building for Kelly Motor Sales Agency; one story building, gasoline and tire service; a one story building for L. G. Scovren Co., all between Windsor Road and Garfield. A one story building constructed for Nash Sales Agency, south of Park; a two story building on northeast corner of Cypress; a two-story building on northeast corner of Los Feliz. There are also a large number of other buildings that will be started in the very near future on the south end of Brand.

When one stops to consider the growth that Glendale has enjoyed in the past two years it is not surprising that the values on South Brand have jumped three hundred and fifty to four hundred dollars per front foot. Over four hundred thousand dollars' worth of South Brand property has changed in the past three weeks. Wednesday fifty foot frontage between Chestnut and Maple changed hands at the record price of five hundred dollars per front foot for an inside parcel in that block. The owner of the northwest corner of Brand and Lomita refused one hundred thousand dollars for one hundred and fifty foot frontage. The owner of the southwest corner of Elk refused seven hundred fifty dollars per front foot for one hundred forty-five feet.

It is rather interesting to follow the "turns" on any particular parcel on an active market, such as we have had for the past year or two. One very desirable corner on South Brand was sold in August, 1922, for $13,000.00; in November the same year it again sold for $16,000.00; again in July, 1923, it turned for $20,000.00; later, on October 15, it found a new owner at $26,250.00, and the present owner today has placed the property on the market for a price well over $30,000.00. These figures are all authentic and each sale can be verified on the Suburban Realty company's books. This is only one of many parcels that have turned over a number of times in the last eighteen months among the half million dollars in sales of Brand boulevard property that has been handled through the office of the Suburban Realty company.

RADIO AMATEUR CLAIMS HE HEARD ARTIC OPERATOR

[By Associated Press]
EVERETT, Wash., Nov. 17.—Everett Kick, amateur radio operator, reports that last night he was able to exchange greetings with the MacMillan Arctic party, now in winter quarters of Etah, Greenland. He says he has heard the Arctic operator for two weeks but was not able to communicate with him until last night.

The previous reports indicated that the party was aboard ship and in good health. The MacMillan operator said he could hear the Everett station very clearly. News reports, he said, had been relayed to him from the Prince Rupert station. The Everett operator arranged to communicate with the Arctic party early next week.

LA CANADA ACRES MAKE BOW TO PUBLIC

In announcing La Canada Acres to the realty buying public the Lehigh Investment company, 212½ West Broadway, believes it is affording an opportunity to those desiring lots that will not be duplicated in many moons.

This tract is located on La Canada boulevard, just a short distance from the La Canada school and a thriving little business center. The general slope of the surface of the tract is gradual—just enough to make the lots in the tract excellent view locations for that little home nest.

In this tract there are fifty-five lots, each being 50x140 feet in size. These are being sold at from $750 to $1500 each on terms of 20 per cent down and 2 per cent per month. It must be understood that these are strictly pre-opening prices. A raise in the general scale of prices is contemplated immediately upon the formal opening of this tract.

One of the features of this tract is the mountain water that is piped to every lot. This is the purest water imaginable—direct from springs. Another feature is that all of the lots are covered with lemon trees of different stages of growth. The pre-opening prices, which are 50 per cent lower than those of lots in adjoining subdivisions, include everything in the way of water, gas, electricity, telephones, street work, etc.

HERE'S HOW TO USE PEPPERS

Stuffed peppers, according to a variety of recipes, have become a popular article of diet, either made with fresh meat, chopped or ground or with forcemeats made from the left-over cooked meat. Cut off the stem end of a sweet pepper, scoop out the seeds and the white membrane which carries them on the inside of the pod. Make a forcemeat of cold chicken or canned shrimp or salmon, if desired, mixed with an equal weight of bread crumbs, two tablespoonsful of melted butter, and moistened with cream. Fill the pepper-shell with the mixture, sprinkle the top with bread crumbs upon which a bit of butter has been placed, and brown in the oven.

Pepper plants should be set out by the second week in May if the weather permits, as they are warm-weather plants and their planting should be regulated by the season. Sweet peppers are more valuable for the ordinary garden than the hot varieties, of which only a plant or two will be needed to furnish seasoning for pickles and chow-chows late in the season.

The sweet peppers, either to be eaten raw in salads, used as flavoring in made dishes or stuffed, are the main crop. They need full sun and plenty of moisture. In dry spells give the peppers a thorough soaking occasionally. Some of the newer giant varieties will not fruit until late and all require rich soil.

For the large bell or bull-nosed types, a little support sometimes is necessary in the form of light stakes. Two or three stakes set about the plant will be sufficient for this purpose. Hilling up the plants slightly is also to be recommended to obviate the necessity of stakes. The best plan is to plant a succession of peppers which bear at various seasons to secure a succession crop. The Neapolitan types are the earliest and the bull nose the latest. Pinch the "king" flower in the large types to secure a greater yield. This is the first flower to open. Magnum Dulce is one of the finest of the big sweet pepper types. The new Pimento is noted for its thick, mild flesh, but is a late type. Peppers should be given at least 18 inches spacing. Close planting will be followed by a poor yield.

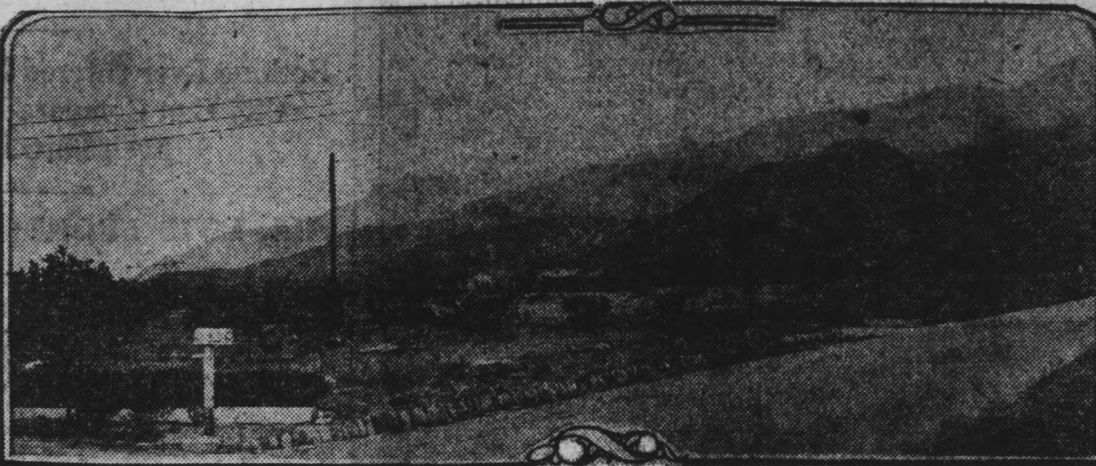

Germany's Bread Price at High Marks

[By Associated Press]
BERLIN, Nov. 17.—A further increase today in the price of bread to 400,000,000 marks per loaf, led to renewed food riots here. The police were obliged to charge crowds threatening to storm the bakeries.

In the suburb of Charlottenburg many shops were plundered. There were numerous arrests.

If milk or water is spilled on the dining table cloth, place a piece of white blotting paper over it. This will absorb the moisture almost immediately.

La Canada Acres Goes on Market Today

A View of Tract—Could Anything Be More Appealing?

'SAN SOUCI' IS GIVEN BIG WELCOME

Things are booming up "San Souci" way.

Since the opening announcements of this tract last week there has been some rapid-fire activity and actual sales record. To determine the actual "pull" of this tract would be impossible. To be correct, there are several "pulls"—there are so many things of actual worth to this tract that to tell the "why and wherefore" would be to mention all of these, which would take sometime. That the many charms of this tract are being realized is shown by the unusual volume of sales.

There is a big demand for homesites in La Cresenta section and one of the most desirable tracts is "San Souci," which is well named, meaning as it does, "without care." This tract is being put on the market by Robert A. Braskett, through the office of the J. M. Boland company, 213 West Broadway. The tract was formerly a vineyard and is divided into large homesites, 60x282 feet, each lot being covered with luscious table grapes of the choicest varieties.

Being located at the intersection of three paved boulevards, it is possible to drive to Los Angeles in forty minutes and to Glendale in fifteen minutes. Owing to the climatic condition of the district, government reports are to the effect that it is the healthiest spot in the country, and has so been recommended by the famous Dr. Mayo of Rochester, Minn.

The Glendale and Montrose Railway company is rapidly prosecuting the completion of the electrification of its road in order that the inhabitants of the La Cresenta and Montrose district may have direct transportation into Los Angeles by January 1.

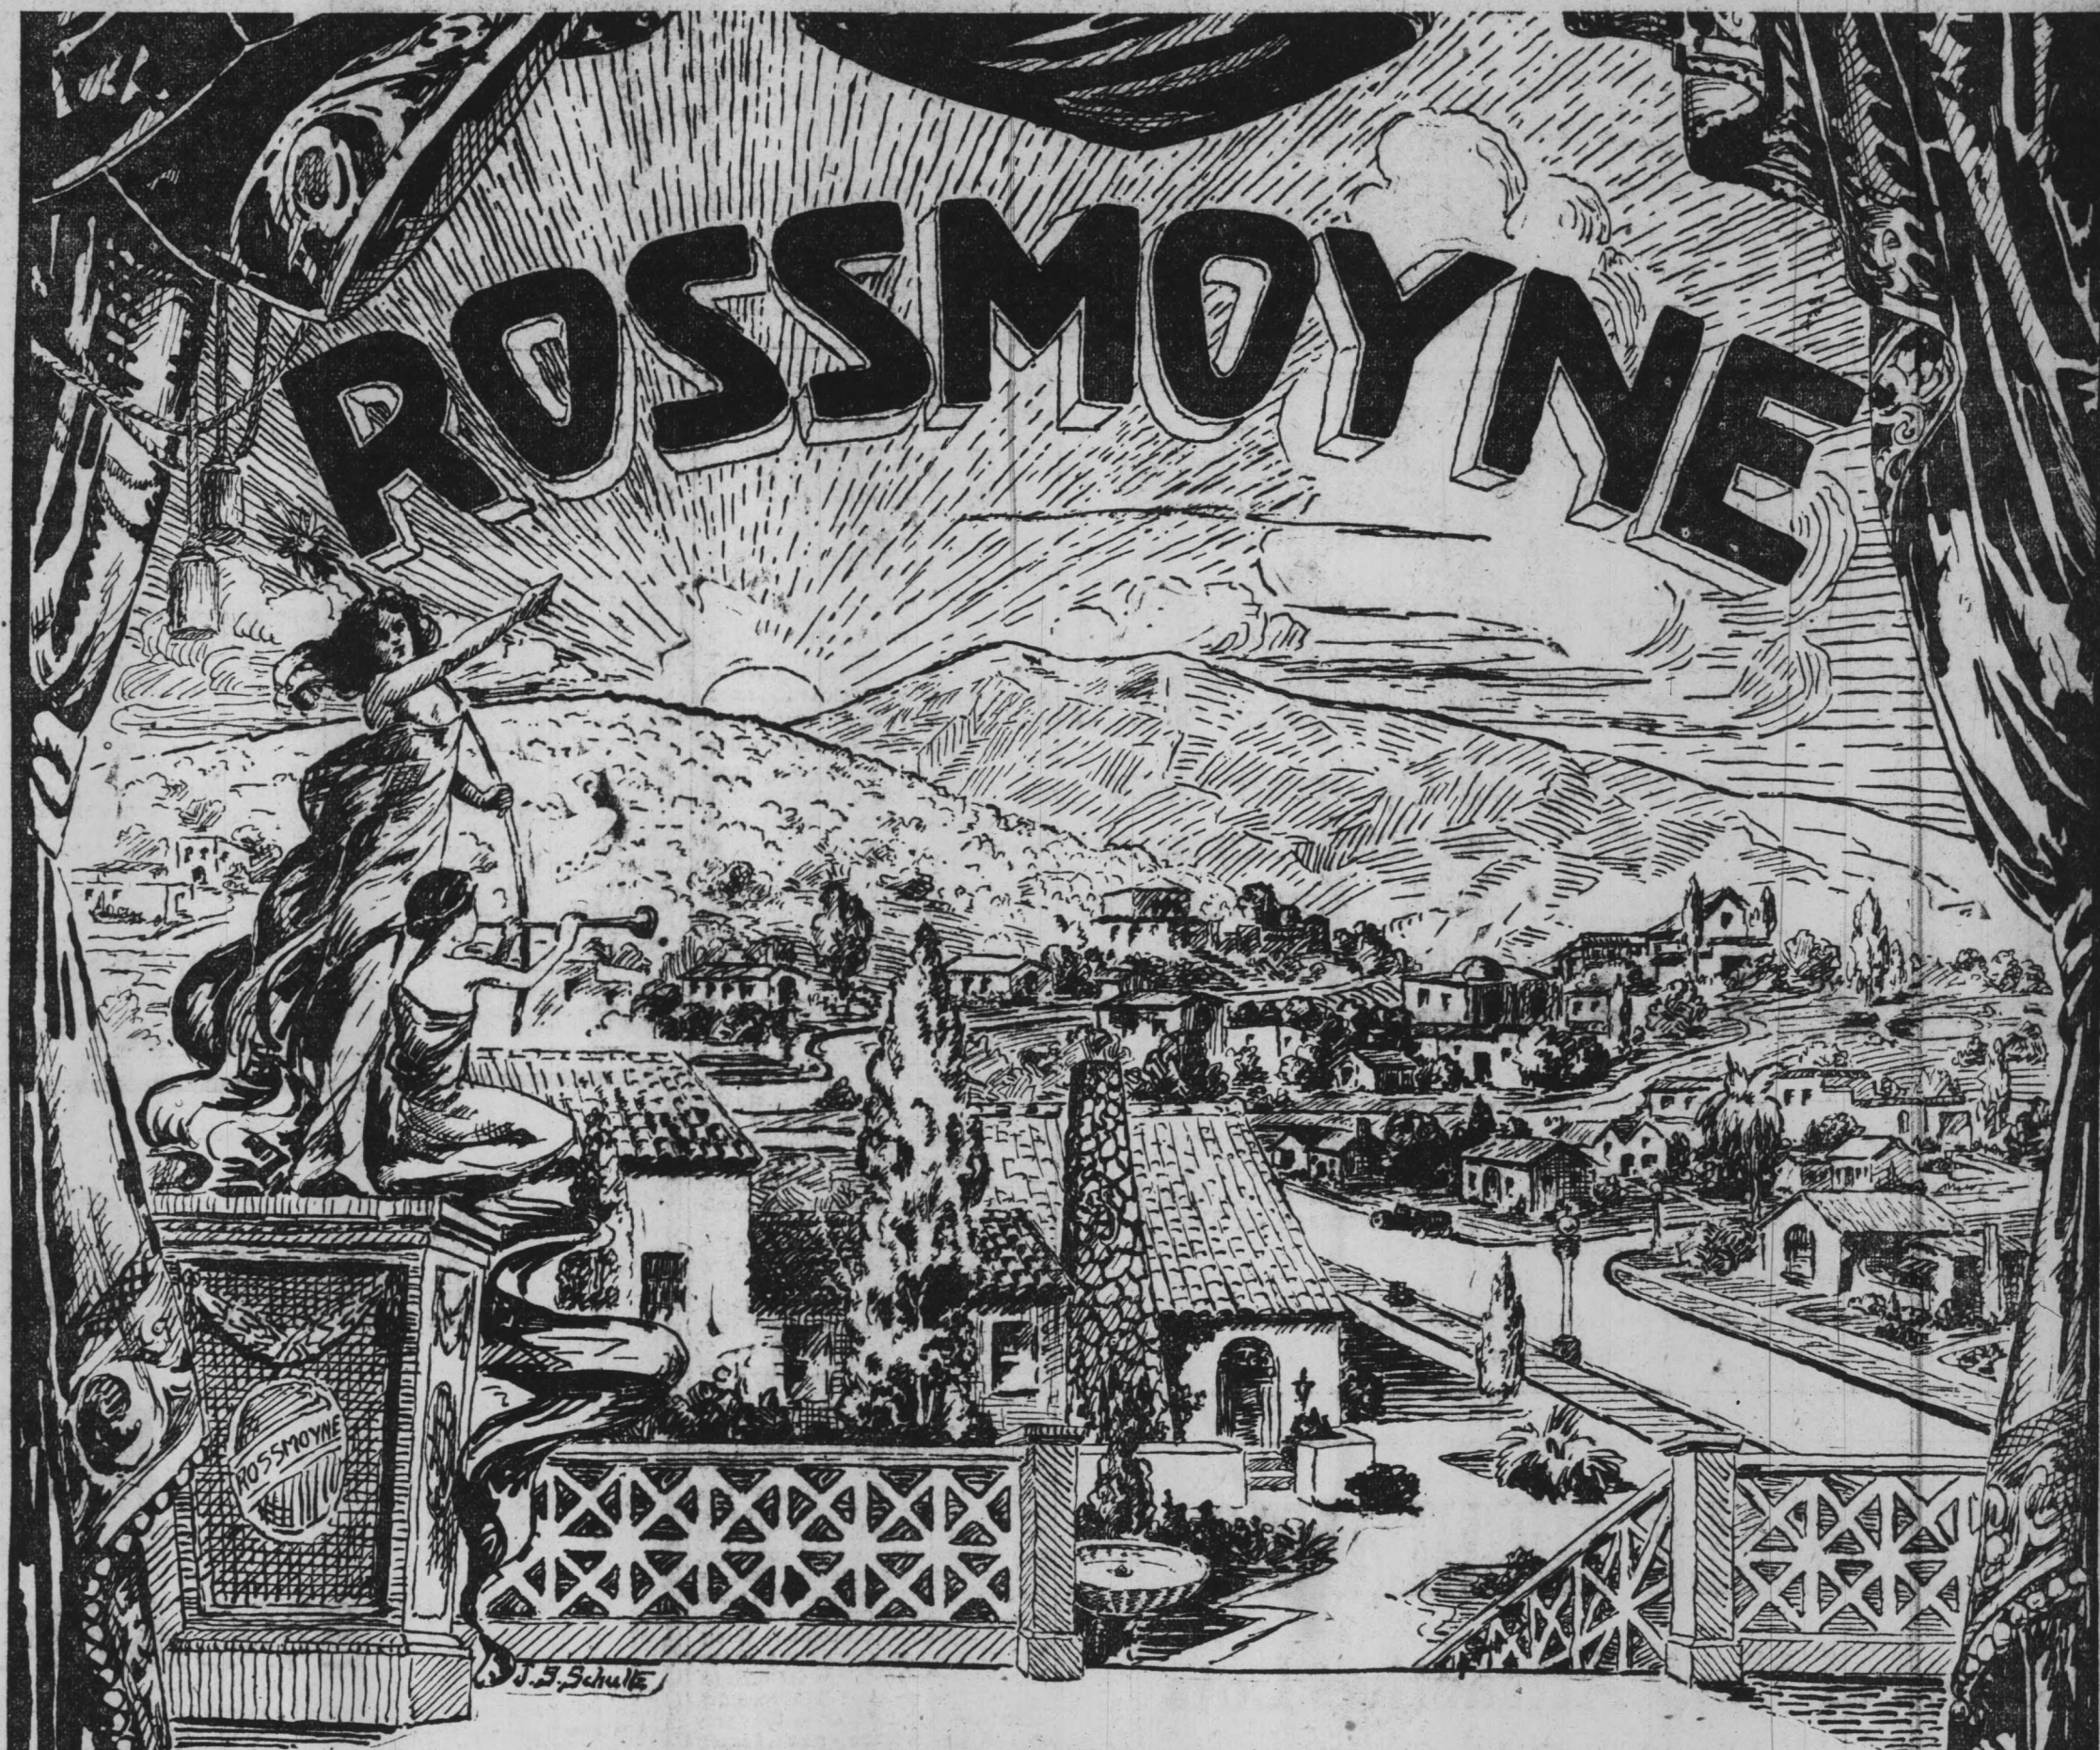

Make a note when you plant your corn that you will pull off all the suckers this year.

PHOENIX WOMAN CLAIMED KILLED BY HAMMER BLOW

[By Associated Press]
PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 17.—A blow from some blunt instrument, presumably a blacksmith's hammer, rather than a 40-foot plunge from the roof of a school building, caused the death of Mrs. George Boudreau here early Tuesday morning, investigating authorities concluded today. The body of Mrs. Boudreau, with the top of the skull crushed in, was found in back of the school building. She had been dead for several hours.

Twenty-two persons were detained by the police today in connection with the crime. Their names were not divulged by the police.

Nothing Ever Offered in the Southern Section of the City Can Compare With This Wonder Tract; Each Parcel Is a Mansion Site

ALL LOTS FRONT ON WINDING ROADWAY

Mr. Property Buyer of Glendale; Do You Remember How Glendale Heights Sold? Lots in the Extension Will Sell Even Faster—Act Quickly

An interesting story—typical of Los Angeles—of how difficult newcomers find the task of choosing from all the glorious Southland's offerings the homesite supreme, is told by Barnum-Walters Co., developers of Sparr Heights and its beautiful residential district, Montecito Park.

A Mr. Robinson, from Ohio and retired, came to Los Angeles. He bought a lot in an exclusive tract in the city district. He thought at the time that it could not be excelled for location, beauty of view, and desirability of neighbors.

In three weeks he had sold the lot because he'd found one with fifty per cent more of everything than the old one offered. Incidentally he took a profit on the sale. In another month he had sold the second lot, also for a profit.

Then he came to Montrose Park and bought two lots. He raved over the beauties of this beautiful new residential city in the heart of the Verdugo Hills.

"That was three months ago," explained M. Walters of the subdividing firm. "The Ohio man, somewhat smiling but very sincerely, told me that he was going to wait three months this time in order to be sure of himself. In that time he has sent eighteen other Ohio people to us. The result is that yesterday he told Mr. Barnum and myself that he's done 'wandering around the Los Angeles residential lot market'—the three months have given him plenty of time to see and compare and he's building at once in Montecito Park.

Extra crews of workmen were put to work this week on the Mont Country Club in Sparr Heights and building of the Oakmont Country Club in the Sparr Heights to rush completion of this great social project, which is faced directly opposite the Montecito Park section of Sparr Heights.

"We are told that the directors of Oakmont Country Club expect to have the beautiful English style clubhouse ready for use, with its swimming pools and tennis courts, by January 1 at the latest," Mr. Barnum declared.

"Experts say that the Oakmont Country Club's course will com-

BUILDER BUYS IN EAGLE ROCK

George W. Fox, a Los Angeles builder, has purchased the stucco hillside home of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Shaff, in Eagle Rock, for a consideration of $25,000. Its situation on Hill drive, near Central avenue, gives it one of the most extensive views in that valley of scenic beauty, and the estate comprises four acres extending to the top of the ridge at the rear.

The new owner intends to make additions to the residence, which already contains twelve rooms. He declares Eagle Rock "the finest place on earth for a home." Mr. Fox built the King George hotel at Santa Monica, also the Rose Apartments and other notable structures in Los Angeles.

lot," the firm asserts. "People especially are desirous of building sites in the hills of Montecito Park, because almost every site overlooks the entire country club area."

"Another unusually good social advantage we have in the Sparr Heights district is the presence of the Oakmont stables. Here are some of the finest blooded horses in the Southland and our friends moving here are taking advantage of the opportunity for early morning rides over the hills and weekend riding parties are the vogue."

Sparr Heights Community Center Building, constructed by Barnum-Walters Co. at a cost of $40,000—now in use as their main office, but to be given to the community for its own social purposes when the district is sold out, is now being used for little parties occasionally. It is said that the soft light illumination on the Sparr Heights Community Building, plus the beauty of the structure itself, makes it one of the most beautiful night architectural sights in California.

A good memory is one that enables a man to forget the things he does not care to recollect.

SO. CALIFORNIA IS PROMISED LAND

would not have pointed it out—for this is a matter which is unprofessional and could not be sanctioned by the trustees of the Temple Baptist church, or any of our other churches. He spoke in generalities, but, naturally, had to make some definitions, some limitations of areas.

"Have you ever considered that, possibly, there is a deeper, more significant reason, for this community touching the longings of the peoples of the world than is usually given it?"

"Sure!" we nodded, "what is it?"

"Go over there to the globe and find California—then find the kingdoms of Judah and Israel. Note the circles of longitude, then of latitude. Find Los Angeles—then Palos Verdes—then Redondo Beach—then Santa Monica—then Long Beach. You have discovered something unusual."

"The figures of longitude for Redondo Beach, Palos Verdes and Long Beach—what are they?"

"Now what are they for Babylon, Jericho, Damascus, Jerusalem, Nazareth, Armageddon, Sea of Galilee, Bethsaida, and, in fact, for the land of Galilee?"

"There is a big, deep, unrootable reason for the magnetism of the word California—a magnetism which has brought people away from the world of whirling wheels and belts and good wages for a new start, here in the land of the olive and orange and peaceful sunshine. It is a directing influence that is thoroughly spiritual, although some of us may not be conscious of it."

"Psychology is a peculiar thing. The more we are conscious of it the less we seem to follow its dictum. Some of its greatest influences are unconscious influences—the particular one we are now having pointed out."

"Is there significance to the fact that we are growing faster than any section in the world—despite the fact that some tell us it is wrong to develop a community where employer and employee have equal rights and their happiness and contentment and prosperity are considered as necessary to their existence?"

"Not so many days ago a great scientist, who lives at Pasadena, Dr. Robert Millikan, told the Los Angeles Advertising Club how the future of the Nordic civilization will be greatly determined in this community."

"Undoubtedly our discovery on the parallels of latitude is a cold fact which reason, tempered by the trials and climbings of humanity's hopes, may serve as a brief pointer to our outlook on the New Period of the world. I can see no harm in a view of this corner of the universe—our events; our policies, ideas and achievements—with a detached and yet a sympathetic consciousness of what destiny is seemingly handing us."

"Though America is crowned with many laurels for her deeds of commercial responsibility to the spiritual I wish to make this prophecy:

"Some of the greatest examples of responsibility to the spiritual—some of the finest deeds of the unwatered milk of human kindness—will be achieved in industry, finance, all walks of commerce, here in the new Land of Promise where grows the olive tree."

"Some of our greatest Americans in the new generation will live in Palos Verdes Estates, where the celebrated Olmstead Brothers are giving their finest work—others in the peace and beauty of Redondo Beach, Long Beach, Santa Monica, Pasadena and Los Angeles—yes, and by all means including Hollywood, Beverly Hills and Glendale.

"If you wish to consider this a boost for real estate in Southern California, go ahead—the attitude of my purpose ignores everything else but the main message."

While giant flowered pansies are wonderful, they do not compare in freedom of bloom with the violas, or tufted pansies, which have much smaller flowers but more of them.

Sow seed of the violas now, and they will be blossoming by fall, and then with a good mulch for protection they will last through the winter. Not only this, but the plants you have may be multiplied either in the fall or spring, by taking them apart and setting out each little tuft to make a plant by itself. It will root readily, and your stock will be multiplied. A bed of these pansies in rich soil will be completely covered with flowers the following spring.

A rule that refuses to work at all often gets the best of one that works both ways.

Your Opportunity NOW! SYCAMORE GLEN

Deaths and Funerals

JAMES THOMAS MERRY

Funeral services for James Thomas Merry were held on November 14, 1923. He was the son of Robert and Sarah Merry and was born March 4, 1855. When a child Mr. Merry moved with his parents to Kansas. He was in marriage to Georgia A. LeOresley of Winfield, Iowa, on June 23, 1885. To this union were born three children, Glenn N. Merry of Iowa City, Ia., Mrs. Grace McConnell and Harold Merry of Los Angeles.

In early manhood Mr. Merry was converted and united with the Free Methodist church, remaining a faithful member until death. He served the church for many years in the capacity of Sunday school superintendent, class leader and local preacher. For several years he held a pastorate on various circuits in Kansas and Illinois. He was an ardent prohibitionist and held office of state secretary of the prohibition party of Kansas for eight years. On account of ill health he was compelled to give up his work about a year ago. He suffered from a complication of diseases and passed away on November 13, 1923.

Mr. Merry leaves three children, four grandchildren, two sisters and a brother and many friends. Jewel City Undertaking company has charge of the services.

C. J. KREHBIEL

C. J. Krehbiel passed away early Friday morning after an illness of about two weeks. He was well known in Glendale, Ohio, as a printer and engraver. Mr. Krehbiel was the brother of Mrs. C. J. Kuhnle of 111 East Maple street and Frank S. Morgan, 128 S. Boynton street. The family has been doubly bereaved this past year, having lost another brother, Mr. Krehbiel, music critic of the New York Tribune, last March.

MISS FLORENCE TAYLOR JONES

Miss Florence Taylor Jones passed away in Glendale on November 15, 1923, at the age of 63 years. She leaves a sister, Mrs. J. Schuch of Los Angeles, Mrs. M. E. Whittier, Christian Science reader, had charge of the funeral services held at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Little Church of the Flowers. Interment was at Forest Lawn. L. G. Scovren Undertaking company had charge of arrangements.

The doctor was calling on old Mrs. Canny. She was not very ill, but she always had some question to ask that had nothing to do with her own case.

"Doctor," she said on this occasion, "can you tell me why it is that some people are born dumb?"

The doctor thought for a moment. "Why—hmm—certainly," he replied; "it is owing to the fact that they come into the world without the faculty of speech."

The old lady gazed at him in admiration. "There, now," she remarked. "Just see what it means to have had a physick education. I asked Thomas more than a hundred times why it was and all he could say, 'Cause they is.'"

ARTICLE No. 4

One large "Don't" that all Auction players always should bear in mind is: Don't insist on playing a hand as a no-trump just because you hold 100 aces. Many a big game or penalty is lost because the holder of 100 aces keeps on bidding no-trump irrespective of the better bid in his hand or of his partner's bidding. Of course it is only reasonable to want to bid a no-trump with 100 aces, and as a rule it is justifiable, but only if one holds the firm intention of shifting to a suit as soon as the bidding indicates that such a course is necessary or expedient. The following hand is a good example of what happens when the lucky holder of 100 aces persists in bidding no-trump:

"DREAM VALLEY"

I have lived in Los Angeles for a year, in a rented bungalow. In that time I have sought ceaselessly to choose from all this rioting beauty the homesite of my visions. One day recently a friend drove me five minutes north of Glendale, out the old Verdugo road. MY SEARCH WAS ENDED! What breath-taking beauty! What massive strength of land character!—To me Montecito Park in Sparr Heights was absolutely a revelation. I did not imagine that such an exquisite dream valley existed in the world as these purple-tinted acres between the high Sierra Madres, the placid San Rafael's and the green-clad Verdugo Hills. My family and I will be living in MONTECITO PARK within three months!"—STATEMENT by recent buyer in Montecito Park in Sparr Heights.

Crash! Hustle Roar!—the symphony of a city of a million souls, Los Angeles. Twenty minutes out—the same crescendo staccato blending of commercial throbbings, Glendale. Another five minutes out!—ah, here are slim peaks etched against the purple sky . . . slender trees, eager for the sun's caresses . . . brazen castles jutting from the hills . . . modest bungalows half-smothered in blooms of a thousand flaming tones . . . and over all the sheen of eternal summer! This is MONTECITO PARK.

MONTECITO PARK is the restricted hillside residential district of the famous new residential town, Sparr Heights. OAKMONT COUNTRY CLUB, nearly finished, is in the heart of Sparr Heights and every lot in MONTECITO PARK looks out over the club and golf course. That means values! We are spending hundreds of thousands in sidewalks, cement streets, curbs, water, gas, electricity, etc., in MONTECITO PARK. Two million dollars' worth of homesites sold already! Call at any office for information.

OAKMONT COUNTRY CLUB

With its 18-hole golf course, swimming pool and tennis courts is nearly ready. Every lot in

MONTECITO PARK

Faces Oakmont Country Club. Homesites in the hills of Montecito Park gain value with every stroke of the carpenters' hammer on the Oakmont Country Club.

Drive out W. 1st St. to Glendale Blvd., thence into Glendale Ave. at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale. North on Glendale Ave. into Verdugo Road, and thus on, 5 minutes to Sparr Heights Community Center Bldg.
